Uganda president claims no harm to Yanks planned

Amin moves meet to Entebbe

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — President Idi Amin has moved his meeting with Americans in Uganda to Entebbe Airport, delayed it until Wednesday and warned the United States not to emulate its Israeli allies with an attempted commando rescue.

In Washington, President Carter said the U.S. government was watching the situation "closely, trying not to upset President Amin, and trying to take advantage of his good wishes that he has expressed."

Radio Uganda reported on Sunday that Amin postponed the meeting from 11 a.m. Monday until 8 a.m. Wednesday at the request of the Americans in his East African country, who are estimated by the State Department to number about 240. Most of them are missionaries.

Amin said no Americans would be allowed to leave the country and ordered the meeting Friday, two days after he claimed the United States, Britain and Israel were involved in a plot to overthrow him.

Sunday's broadcast said the location of the meeting had been changed from the International Conference Center in Kampala, the capital, because the main lounge at Entebbe was the only facility in the country large enough to accommodate the 3,000 persons who were to attend. However, there was no indication who would be present beside the Americans and Amin.

The official radio also warned Ugandans to be alert for signs of an invasion. It said after the Israeli raid on Entebbe last July, the presence of U.S. naval vessels off the Kenyan coast "must be taken seriously."

Quoting a "military spokesman," believed to be Amin himself, the broadcast said: "In the event of an invasion, the invading force will be disintegrated by the Ugandan armed forces."

The United States said the nuclear-powered aircraft carrier Enterprise and its escorts were cruising in the Indian Ocean off East Africa following a good-will visit to Kenya last week.

Radio Uganda said Amin at the meeting Wednesday would discuss with the Americans a memorandum being prepared on their activities since the U.S. Embassy in Kampala was closed in 1973. The broadcast said Amin wanted to thank them for their work and planned to award medals to a few of them.

The State Department said it received an invitation from the Ugandan government to send representatives to the meeting. A spokesman said there had been no U.S. response and he did not know if there would be. Ugandan officials also said some foreign correspondents might be allowed to attend.

President Carter said the United Nations had offered to intercede on the Americans' behalf, "but we've handled our affairs through the German embassy and so far there's nothing to cause deep concern."

The United States closed its embassy in Kampala in 1973 but did not break relations, and the Ugandan embassy in Washington is still open.

COMMENDATION — Capt. Larry M. Hott, commander of the local Ohio Army National Guard unit, presents a meritorious service award to Sgt. William Robinson for cooperation with the National Guard during the severe winter weather conditions last month. Sgt. Robinson accepted the award on behalf of Washington C.H. Police Chief Rodman Scott and the police department staff.

For service during blizzard

Guardsmen salute 22 area residents

The local Ohio Army National Guard unit Sunday presented meritorious service commendation awards to 22 persons whose action "prevented much unnecessary suffering" during the Jan. 28 blizzard which paralyzed Fayette County.

"Certainly this community cannot praise or thank individually all those who deserve recognition for their activities during the blizzard of 1977," said Capt. Larry M. Hott, commander of the local Ohio Army National Guard unit. "But it was our desire in this unit to honor some of those with whom we worked, those whose untiring service and courage represent the highest efforts of all the citizens of the county."

"Thanks to the actions of these persons, and the many that they represent, much unnecessary suffering and sacrifice was prevented," Hott added.

The local National Guard unit presented "Guardsman Award" certificates to:

—Bertha McCullough, representing Washington C.H. City Council and the residents of Washington C.H.;

—Ray Warner, representing the Fayette County Board of Commissioners and the residents of Fayette County;

—Fayette County Sheriff Donald L. Thompson, representing the staff of the Fayette County Sheriff's Department;

—Washington C.H. Police Chief Rodman Scott, representing the staff of the Washington C.H. Police Department;

—William Duncan, superintendent, representing the staff of the city street department;

—Fayette County Engineer Donald Conley, representing the staff of the Fayette County Highway Department;

—Treon Ellis, superintendent, representing the staff of the Ohio Department of Transportation garage in Fayette County;

—Raldon M. Smith, director, representing the staff of the Fayette County Disaster Services Agency;

—John Lachat and David Morrow, coordinators, representing the staff of the Fayette County Life Squad;

—Helen Slavens, executive secretary, representing the staff and members of the Fayette County chapter of the American Red Cross;

—Mike Flynn, editor, representing the Record-Herald and its news staff;

—Robert Lutz, station manager, representing WCHO-Radio and its staff;

—John Woodmansee, manager,

representing the staff of the Fayette County Airport;

—Kerry Bell, owner and operator, representing Bell's Shell service station and its staff;

—Robert Munn and Larry Cruea, manager and assistant manager, representing McDonald's Restaurant and its staff;

—Michael Garner, owner and operator, representing Garner's Union 76 truck service and its staff;

—Carl and Jeanne Mason, owners, representing Frisch's Restaurant and its staff; and

—James Wackman Jr. and Gerald Wackman, owner and manager, representing the J&J Restaurant and its staff.

Special awards were also presented to Sheriff Thompson and Chief Deputy Robert W. McArthur of the Fayette County Sheriff's Department. Members of the local National Guard unit also presented a plaque to Sgt. Maj. Robert Goodson, of the Ohio National Guard headquarters in Columbus, for services rendered to the local unit.

The local Ohio Army National Guard, which was activated for emergency rescue operations during the severe winter weather conditions which isolated the county in late January, played a central, but certainly not exclusive, role in relief efforts, Hott said.

"Several city, county and state agencies were on continuous, 24-hour schedules until the end of the crisis.

On small, non-domestic customers

DP&L lifts some gas curbs

The Dayton Power and Light Co. lifted curtailments on small, non-domestic natural gas users Monday.

The utility company, which serves all of Fayette County, reported that the curtailments were lifted due to several factors including successful conservation efforts by customers.

Under the new curtailment plan, which was approved last week by the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio, customers who did not use more than 5,000 ccf in any one month of 1972 will receive 100 per cent of the 1972 allocation.

The ruling affected many small businesses and schools in the DP&L's 24-county service area.

Washington C.H. commercial businesses, which have curtailed operating hours for over a month due to the natural gas shortage, are returning to normal schedules.

"Most of them (area businesses) are back to near normal hours," George Malek, executive vice president of the Washington C.H. Area Chamber of Commerce, reported Monday morning.

Neither the Miami Trace or the Washington C.H. school districts have received any official word on the lifting of curtailments, and fuel conservation efforts will continue until some word is given.

Lewis Parrett, elementary coordinator of the Washington C.H. School District, said that Cherry Hill and Rose Avenue elementary schools will remain closed. The two buildings were closed earlier this month due to the natural gas shortage. Students have been attending classes at the Washington C.H. Middle School.

Parrett said that all three district buildings using natural gas were under a single allocation and he felt the three buildings combined had used over 5,000 ccf during any one winter month in 1972.

Besides the two closed elementary school buildings,

Washington Senior High School uses natural gas.

Parrett added that there may be more cold weather ahead for the area, and the two buildings would remain closed until conditions improve. He said that the district does not want to move students back to the two buildings one day and then have to send them back to the Middle School the next day because of the fuel crisis.

Steve Yambor, assistant superintendent of the Miami Trace School District, said he had received no word from DP&L on the lifting of curtailments, even though he felt the New Holland and Staunton school buildings would qualify under the announced curtailment plan of under 5,000 ccf.

Yambor added that the conversion of the heating system at Jeffersonville Elementary School was nearing completion. The building was heated by natural gas, but heating burners are being converted to use fuel oil.

Plans to convert heating systems at New Holland and Staunton schools to propane gas are also nearing completion. Yambor said the work will continue giving the school district an optional fuel source for future years.

Jeffersonville, New Holland, and Staunton schools along with the Bloomingburg gym are the only buildings in the county heated by natural gas. They gym has been closed for several months due to the gas shortage.

BESIDES THE lifting of curtailments on most small natural gas customers, the DP&L plan will return all other non-domestic customers to 45 per cent of their 1972 base period allocation. These customers, which include most industries, were advised to reduce gas usage to plant protection levels last month.

Those customers, who have exceeded 45 per cent of their winter allocation and who have not purchased alternate

Product liability claims eyed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Manufacturers' product liability is the latest problem in the apparent further development of a legal doctrine that says "when someone gets hurt, someone has to pay."

Rep. Vernon F. Cook, D-39 Cuyahoga Falls, said the problem is "near the dimensions" of the one that hit Ohio's medical profession two years ago when doctors and hospitals found themselves virtually unable to buy liability insurance at any price.

More recently, the Ohio State Bar Association took note of the same dilemma among lawyers—some of whom are suing each other for money—and called for a study to see if lawyers should follow the lead of physicians in trying to set up their own insurance company.

Cook introduced late last week a bill he said he hopes can help resolve the kinds of problems that come when a consumer or worker is injured by allegedly defective merchandise.

The product can be a toothbrush, or anything from a football helmet to an electric range, or factory lathe to Pinto or Mercedes-Benz, he said.

Lawsuits arising from product injuries and deaths are on the increase. A legislative committee found that in some cases, manufacturers' liability insurance increased by as much as 900 per cent in a year. Many Ohio firms are deciding to get out of the business to avoid what a spokesman called "guaranteed losses."

Thomas R. Johnson, president of the Ohio Manufacturers' Association, generally lauded Cook's bill but said it stops far short of what is needed. He said the measure only deals with about five or six of 18 problems the same committee pinpointed last year.

As in the case of medical liability, the problem is filled with legal complexities which the Summit County lawmaker acknowledged. "I'm not a lawyer," he said, adding that he hopes his bill can be at least a starting point for legislative hearings.

Cook's voluminous bill is expected to be referred to the House Committee on Insurance, Utilities, and Financial Institutions, possibly this week. The Senate and House resume deliberations Tuesday following weekend recess.

The 49-year-old University of Akron political science professor incorporated into his bill some of the recommendations of the legislature's joint select committee on small business problems. It heard testimony late last year on various kinds of business problems, including product liability.

Cook's bill has as its main thrust two provisions that restrict lawsuits against manufacturers as to time. It carries a general statute of limitations of 12 years, but also states that manufacturers must label their products with guarantees which apply only for a fixed number of years. There would be no liability after the guarantee date expired.

The legislation further provides for "scheduled payments of recovery" in those instances when a court awards damages.

Instead of the current law which permits a plaintiff to receive a huge award at one time, perhaps running into hundreds of thousands of dollars, Cook would permit installment payments only during the expected life time of the plaintiff.

Precluding what he called "a bionic man theory," payments would cease upon the death of the plaintiff. "Their relatives wouldn't be enriched. I don't think anyone should wind up better off than they were at the start," he said.

Cook said the 12-year statute of limitations proposed in his bill is "a much longer period" than the one or two years allowed for medical malpractice suits. But he stressed that it is negotiable. "It's a reasonable and moderated place to start," he said.

At least, he added, it will "demonstrate to the plaintiff bar, which will be upset with this (the legislation), that we are willing to be reasonable." Currently, there is no statute of limitations on such proceedings, Cook said.

Johnson said the manufacturers' association, which has about 1,500 members who operate 17,000 plants in Ohio, would like to see the bill go much further. It should put restrictions on third party suits in which a manufacturer can be held liable, for instance, when a worker is injured while using a machine that was purchased from another manufacturer, he said.

Traditionally, until recently, he said, such an employer was protected through the state workmen's compensation program when it awarded compensation to the injured party. Now, he said, these types of lawsuits are being filed that include the employer as a defendant — no matter what has been paid by the state.

Johnson also wondered whether the real answer might be in federal legislation, he said, adding "all of these products cross state lines."

But the OMA official said Cook's bill is "a first step."

House takes up tax cut plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House of Representatives will decide this week how to split up a $19.5 billion individual tax cut proposed by President Carter in an effort to prime the sluggish economy.

Carter wants to spend the money on a one-shot $50-per-person tax rebate and to permanently increase the standard deduction, which generally helps taxpayers on the lower end of the income scale.

Most Republicans and some Democrats prefer a permanent across-the-board tax cut for virtually all taxpayers.

Despite the political appeal of a universal tax cut, there is every indication the House will accept the Carter plan as the only sure way to pump more than $10 billion into the economy within a few weeks.

The two-year tax cut is scheduled for House debate on Thursday, one of the few pieces of legislation to be considered by Congress this week.

Another important bill, to be debated in the House on Tuesday, would extend for one year the government's authority to control interest rates on savings accounts. It also would broaden the powers of credit unions, giving them authority to lend money for home mortgages.

House action is expected Tuesday on a new code of ethics for representatives, which is considered virtually certain to pass because it was made a condition of allowing a 29 per cent pay hike for lawmakers to go into effect. The congressmen got their raises of nearly $13,000 a week ago.

The ethics code is likely to call for extensive financial disclosure, a limit on outside earnings and for other protections against conflict of interest.

The Senate is expected to consider on Thursday the nomination of Paul Warnke to be chairman of the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency and chief U.S. negotiator at the U.S.-Soviet arms-limitation talks. The nomination has been the most controversial made by Carter.

A compromise budget amendment to accommodate any emergency economic stimulus is slated for work today during the first major Senate-House conference of the new Congress. The House and Senate have passed slightly different amendments that assume — but do not ensure — acceptance of Carter's tax-cut and job-creation plans.

Carter's plan to mail a $50 check to virtually all Americans this spring has been under attack by many in Congress since he first spelled it out. Opponents contend the rebate is an expensive and uncertain way to create jobs counted on to help pull the economy out of recession.

Carter's economic stimulus proposal would cost about $32 billion between now and Sept. 30, 1978. In addition to the rebate and a bigger standard deduction for taxpayers who do not itemize, the measure calls for a business tax break and increased federal spending to create jobs.

Ohioans buy flood insurance

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ohioans are preparing for the possibility that this winter's severe weather will be followed by heavy flooding, according to the state's insurance industry.

The flood insurance business in the state is booming as homeowners — many of whom remember the devastating 1959 flood that caused $10 million damage and left thousands homeless — take advantage of policies issued through the National Flood Insurance Program.

"It has been a dramatic increase to say the least," said Charles Luker, an agent for Continental National American Insurance Co. in Cincinnati, fuel are required to remain at plant protection levels.

The definition of "Plant protection level" has been changed by PUCO. It is defined by the federal power commission as the gas necessary to prevent irreparable injury to life or property. Meters of these customers will continue to be read on a more frequent basis, the utility company said.

Also under the plan, customers with dual fuel and alternate fuel capabilities are still curtailed 100 per cent until further notice. Locally, the Washington Middle School falls in this category. The building has been heated by fuel oil since the first of the year.

Despite the lifting of many customer curtailments, the utility company is still concerned about the natural gas supply.

"We can't let up in our conservation measures, and the continued help in conserving on everyone's part is essential," a DP&L spokesman said.

Along with the successful conservation efforts by DP&L customers, the lifting of curtailments to certain natural gas users was prompted by the milder than normal weather of the past week and the increase in the utility company's gas supply from the Columbia Gas Transmission Co.

Emotions stirred by death of child

ATHENS, Tenn. (AP) — A special sound-equipped room was readied at McMinn County Courthouse today to hold the overflow crowd expected at the trial of Ronald and Wanda Gibson Maddux, charged with the beating death of Mrs. Maddux's 4-year-old daughter, Melisha.

The child's nude body was found on a bare mattress in the unheated living room of the Maddux's home in Cleveland, Tenn., last Oct 13 — just five months after the state returned Melisha to the couple.

The Madduxes had been convicted of abusing Melisha when she was 11 months old and were jailed for six months. The state Humane Services Department returned the child to them last May.

Mrs. Maddux was alleged to have said her husband resented Melisha because the child was fathered by another man. Maddux reportedly told deputies that he began disciplining Melisha after she wet her pants.

Maddux is alleged to have said he beat Melisha with a stick to keep her walking, and allegedly made the following statement: "I made her keep walking back and forth all day to try and tire her out so that she would sleep that night.

"I kept giving her the hot sauce a tablespoon at a time. She asked me for a drink of water. I got a glass of water and told her if she would take the tablespoon of hot sauce, I would give her a drink.

"She swallowed the hot sauce and I drank the glass of water."

Maddux told officers he gave Melisha a shower and sent her to bed alone, naked on the bare mattress in the cold living room. An autopsy concluded she died the following morning of shock and exposure.

If convicted, the Madduxes could be sentenced to 10 years to life in prison.

Guardsmen

The persons in these agencies deserve the praise of the community for their perseverance, mutual cooperation, and even courage," he stated.

The local unit commander, who also holds the rank of specialist with the Washington C.H. Police Department, said the news media organizations in the county "performed critical roles in warning and informing county residents and in helping to coordinate relief efforts."

He added that "members of several public service organizations mobilized to provide assistance, especially in regard to medical and housing needs. Businesses across the county adapted their activities to serve and assist the relief program."

"Above all, people — the citizens of the county — on a one-to-one basis, exerted themselves in countless deeds of generosity to help their neighbors," Hott said.

The unusual and extremely severe winter conditions that existed in Fayette County during and after the Jan. 28 blizzard created the potential for great suffering, and damages estimated at more than $5 million.

With temperatures plunging to as low as 20 degrees below zero and with snow drifting as high as 15 feet, persons faced a series of hazards.

Roads were blocked. Persons were stranded in vehicles along roads and highways. Rural residents were cut off from food and medical treatment. In some cases, fuel supplies in homes were low as the blocked roads prevented the delivery of fuel oil and the cold weather interfered with the flow of natural gas.

Additionally, many farm animals were freezing and starving in fields, blocked from food and shelter by the snow. Even the supply of fresh drinking water was critical as the subzero temperatures froze many service lines.

The response of Fayette County authorities and residents was swift, effective and coordinated. Every effort was made to clear snow-clogged roads, despite the gusting winds that continually created new drifts. Persons were evacuated from stranded autos and other vehicles. Emergency vehicles, including helicopters, delivered fuel, food and medical supplies to isolated homes and villages. Stranded travelers and, in some cases, entire families were evacuated to temporary shelter established in National Guard armory. Persons were housed through disaster relief funds and fed through voluntary contributions.

"These activities were carried out by the citizens, public agencies and private organizations of Fayette County. Because of their efforts, suffering in the county was minimized and the life and health of its residents was protected," Hott said.

Stock list turns mixed

NEW YORK (AP) —The stock market was mixed today, continuing last week's sluggish trend.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks rose a fraction in the early going, but losers took a slight lead over gainers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Analysts said the market was still being held back by concern over rising interest rates and fears of a new upsurge in inflation.

Brokers were watching to see how the market would respond to today's scheduled report from the government on the index of leading economic indicators for January.

Today's early prices included Southern Co., down 1/8 at 16; Kroger, off 1/8 at 26 1/2; MGIC Investment, 1/4 lower at 16, and U.S. Steel, unchanged at 46.

On Friday the Dow Jones industrial average managed a .83 gain to 933.43, reducing its loss for the week to 6.81 points.

But losers outnumbered gainers by about an 8-5 margin on the NYSE.

Big Board volume hit an early-1977 low of 17.61 million shares, against 19.73 million on Thursday.

The NYSE's composite index lost .08 to 54.09.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was down .57 at 110.58.

Rudolf Hess tries suicide

BERLIN (AP) — Rudolf Hess, the imprisoned former deputy to Adolf Hitler, cut himself with a table knife on his left wrist, elbow and foot last Tuesday, an Allied spokesman said today in apparent confirmation of reports that Hess tried to kill himself.

Hess's son said last week that his 82-year-old father tried to commit suicide because of deep depression over his failing health and his solitary imprisonment.

The son, engineer Wolf Ruediger, 39, met with Hess Friday at Spandau prison in West Berlin, the allied jail for Nazi war criminals where Hess is now the only inmate.

Hess has been in the jail since 1946 and was a prisoner in Britain before that since 1941. He is serving a life sentence for plotting and carrying out war, but not for war crimes.

Ohio Perspective

Dove season hassle continues

By MATT ALLEN
Associated Press Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — For the second time in two years a court has ruled that mourning doves can't be hunted in Ohio.

The first time it happened was in 1975, just one day before the state's first dove season in 60 years.

The injunction issued then was dissolved a couple of days later in another court order and dove hunters were given the go-ahead for what state wildlife officials termed a very successful season.

At that time there was a great hue and cry raised against the sport of dove hunting by preservationist groups, which included Friends of Animals, headed by author Cleveland Amory, and the Toledo-based International Fund for Animals.

Several legislators joined in the fray on the side of the preservationists and the House passed a bill outlawing dove hunting. When the measure got to the Senate it was defeated.

The brouhaha began when preservationists discovered that the wildlife division had set a two-segment season on the swift-flying gamebird. The division had acted under the legislature-passed 1973 Endangered Species Act. In passing the measure, the legislature relinquished control over the setting of hunting seasons to the Division of Wildlife.

Until the season was set, the mourning dove—a migratory bird, hunted in more than 30 states—had been classified as a songbird in Ohio. None had objected to the change during well publicized hearings held by the division's Wildlife Council before the move.

Wildlife biologists estimated the mourning dove population in Ohio at about 7.4 million in 1975 and again in 1976.

"The 1973 act gave us the regulatory authority," said wildlife division chief Dale Haney. "With that act they (the legislature) included language that said in essence that the Division of Wildlife, with approval of the Wildlife Council, had authority over wild animals."

Haney said two judges ruled in the matter back in 1975, both acting on the side of the season-setting.

No fuss was raised at all about the 1976 dove season and most sportsmen felt the problem was a thing of the past.

The latest ruling, from the Lucas

County Court of Appeals, came out of the original suit filed by Lawrence Hyter of Toledo, as a representative of the Fund For Animals. His attorney in the case was Arthur Wilkowski, a Democratic member of the House from Toledo. Wilkowski was one of the proponents of the legislation to ban dove hunting.

The state has about one month in which to act and it's likely the ruling will be appealed to the Supreme Court, but no final decision has been made. Department attorneys are studying the ruling now and "serious consideration is being given to an appeal," Haney said.

Prof slates road study for durability

KENT, Ohio (AP) — A geology professor at Kent State University says he hopes to discover the key to designing more durable roads by studying what causes the small landslides that break up the nation's highways.

Dr. Murray McComas, director of geology at Kent State, has been awarded $24,000 from the state transportation department and federal highway administration to study the land movement that can cause highway landslides.

While most landslides aren't serious, the Ohio highway department reports spending $1 million annually to repair roads damaged by such slides.

"When the highways were built, the main idea was to build them as fast and straight as possible," McComas said. "When the hills and mountains are cut into just anywhere, the slopes can fall and flow out over the highway."

"Many areas are seriously deteriorating," McComas said. "If they simply remove the dirt that is threatening a road it just starts more land sliding."

"My job has been to also evaluate the techniques the state has used to correct these problems," McComas said. "In some cases you may have seen these...blankets of rocks on the side of a hill. In some cases these work beautifully and in other cases it causes it."

Cincy residents buy bottled water

CINCINNATI (AP) — Fearful that their drinking water is polluted with a cancer-causing chemical, residents are drying up the supply of bottled water in the Cincinnati area.

The run on bottled water, triggered by a second carbon tetrachloride spill into the Ohio River system in a week, has turned people off on drinking tap water.

Supermarkets report they can't keep bottled water in stock due to the demand.

"I've never seen anything like it," said Dave Wenger, an IGA store manager in Ft. Thomas, Ky. "One man ordered enough water to fill a bathtub. He said he refuses to take a bath in tap water."

Restaurants claim diners are substituting coffee and tea for water with their meals, while grocery stores report an increase of sales in soft drinks.

The bottled water sales peaked over the weekend as Cincinnati, Ohio's third largest city with 450,000 residents, closed the intake valves to its drinking water supply for 31 hours.

The rarely-ordered move came after 6,000 pounds of carbon tetrachloride was accidentally spilled into the Kanawha River Friday at the FMC Corporation near Charleston, W.Va.

Last week a 70-ton slug passed Cincinnati undetected, polluting the river where the city draws its water supply and set off a public outcry.

The chemical is believed to be a cancer causing agent and can cause liver damage.

Uneasy residents began looking for supplies of pure water.

"We've had a tremendous volume of new customers, maybe over 50 per cent," said Charles Braun, a distributor for Mountain Springs bottled water. "My wife just received 87 calls at home in a 24-hour period."

"There are a lot of little old ladies frightened out of their wits," Braun said.

Rhodes sets water aid

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James Rhodes pledged his help Saturday to speed up the flow of federal funds to rural communities where water supplies were damaged by severe winter weather.

The governor met in his office with dozens of governmental officials from Ohio villages, cities and counties.

The officials identified such problems as broken water mains, frozen pipes, wells pumped dry because of low water tables, reservoirs at low levels because of drought and lack of water for firefighting because of depleted supplies and low pressure in systems.

Representatives of two federal agencies also met with the group.

Paul Lydens, Columbus director of the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, explained how to apply for community development grants to correct water system problems that pose serious threats to residents.

Ralph B. Voorhis, representative of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Farmers Home Administration, said the FHA can supply loans and grants for water and sewer improvements to rural communities under 10,000 population.

Landmark buys Ohio River tract for future facility

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Landmark, Inc., has purchased a 44-acre tract of land on the Ohio River for the construction of a grain handling facility. Fred McLaughlin, executive vice president of Landmark, Inc., said the property, located on Ohio 8, two miles north of the I-275 outerbelt bridge, will be the future site of a grain handling and loading facility. Engineering studies are presently under way.

The announcement of the land purchase was announced at the cooperative's annual meeting held in Columbus.

McLaughlin stressed that the water has historically been the most economical method of transporting grain because it requires less labor and fuel. Noting these advantages, he underlined the importance of Landmark, Inc., operating a grain facility on the Ohio River to provide access to export facilities for Ohio farmers.

According to Kenneth Peterson, vice president of the Landmark, Inc., grain division, the purchase culminates several years of searching for a suitable grain handling and loading site in the Cincinnati area.

Peterson said the site was selected because it will accommodate the transportation of inbound grain by both truck and railroad and outbound grain by water and rail.

DESSERTS IN MINUTES

Many families feel that a meal is not complete without dessert. Desserts, however should not be an afterthought, but planned with nutrition in mind. Each day we need four servings of fruits and vegetables, four servings of bread and cereals, three cups of milk and two servings of meat. Fruit and milk based desserts can be planned to fit within this daily guide and also influence children's future dessert choices.

Since the busy homemaker cannot always find time to prepare time-consuming desserts she needs to keep recipes for quick desserts on file. The following three milk and fruit based desserts require less than 15 minutes preparation time and are ready to serve at the end of the dinner hour.

QUICK PUMPKIN PUDDING

1 cup canned pumpkin or mashed squash or mashed sweet potatoes

- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/4 teaspoon cloves
- 1 Tablespoon molasses
- 1 1/2 cups milk
- 1 package instant vanilla pudding mix

Combine pumpkin, salt, spices and molasses. Stir in milk until smooth. Add pudding and beat slowly about one minute until thick. Chill and serve. Makes 6 servings.

PINEAPPLE LIME FLUFF

1 carton (9 ounces) prepared whipped topping

1 box (3 ounces) lime flavored gelatin

1 can (20 ounces) drained crushed pineapple

1 carton (16 ounces) small curd cottage cheese

1 cup chopped nuts (optional)

Fold undissolved gelatin into whipped topping. Add drained pineapple, cottage cheese and nuts. Stir until blended. Chill 30 minutes before serving. Makes 12 servings.

APPLE UPSIDE-DOWN CAKE

1 can (22-ounce) apple pie filling

1 box (18 1/2 ounce) yellow or white cake mix

1 1/3-3rd cups water

2 eggs

Spread pie filling in a 9x13 inch baking pan. Prepare cake mix as directed on package and spread evenly over pie filling. Bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes. For breakfast cake, cut in squares and lift out carefully with wide spatula, turning filling side up. For a dessert, spoon out while warm. Serve with sauce. Makes 16 servings.

TAG-ALONG SAUCE

1 cup brown sugar

1/4 teaspoon nutmeg

2 Tablespoons flour

Dash of salt

2 Tablespoons margarine

1 cup water

Combine all but water in a small baking dish. Gradually stir in water. Place in oven with cake. Sauce will thicken without stirring.

Convenient food items helped make these desserts quick and easy but added slightly to the cost. However, when time is a precious element, sometimes it is more economical to buy prepared products rather than have to do the work at home.

A well stocked cupboard, refrigerator and freezer of convenience items can help you turn out last minute desserts. Canned pie filling can serve as a topping for frozen pound cake, ice cream, or frozen waffles. Canned pudding can be served "as is" or dressed up with marshmallows, nuts, fruit, sour cream, or whipped topping. Frosting mixes can top more than a cake from a mix. How about icing cookies or filling graham crackers? Fresh, canned or frozen fruit can be a dessert by itself (especially for low calorie diets) or accompanied by cheese or yogurt. Yogurt also makes a great topping for gelatin quick set using frozen fruit instead of ice. Hot spiced tea, hot chocolate or a sweet fruit juice can also be a pleasing climax to a meal.

To help you round out your meal planning with nutritious desserts we have prepared a recipe sheet with directions for Cherry Pudding Cake, Golden Toppers, Fruit Meringue, Baked Custard, Fruit Crisp, Applesauce Dessert, 5 Cup Fruit Cream, and Pineapple Upside-Down Cake. If you would like a copy call or write the County Extension Service 319 South Fayette Street, Phone 335-1150. It will be sent to you in a free packet of recipe sheets offered in this "Meal Appeal" column.

Candy molding, cake decorating workshop held

A workshop on candy molding and cake decorating taught by Miss Joyce Bull highlighted the meeting of the Fayette County Professional Home Economics Club at the February meeting, when members practiced their newly-found skills in the Home Economics Dept. rooms at Miami Trace High School.

A short business meeting conducted by Mrs. Nancy Davis followed, and plans were made for the annual tour to Kingwood Center and Gardens on June 8.

Those attending were Mrs. Mary Myers, Mrs. Connie Mathews, Mrs. Davis, Miss Bull, Mrs. Miriam Engle, Emily Engle, Mrs. June Pero, Susie, Dedee and Kitty Pero, Mrs. Beth DelTedesco, Mrs. Lila Engle, Mrs. Gladys Kirk, Mrs. Karen Bernard, Mrs. Carolyn Fryer and Mrs. Mary Belle Biddle.

Correction

In the Saturday's article concerning a bridal shower given by Mrs. Jack Thompson and her daughters, Jill, Jan and Joan, honoring Miss Joy Wynne, bride-elect of K.C. Taylor, the prospective groom's mother was listed as Mrs. Kenneth Taylor. It should have read Mrs. Charles Taylor.

Mrs. Browning club hostess

The Town and Country Garden Club met in the home of Mrs. Robert Browning when Mrs. Eli Craig, president, opened with "A Good Deed." Assisting hostess was Mrs. John Frost.

Mrs. Craig reported the Presidents Council meeting for 10 a.m. May 12 at the Fish and Game Lodge. This will be an all-day meeting, and Mrs. Vell Hughes of Clarksburg, will demonstrate basic flower arranging using the Ohio Garden Manual (Chapter 5) as her guide. Arrangements will be made in the afternoon. Flowers will also be planted in the new courtyard at Fayette Memorial Hospital, also.

The Fayette County Fair Flower Show was also discussed. The theme of the show will be book titles.

A possible tour later in the spring was discussed. The former home of Oscar Zimmerman, the Decorative Show House, built in 1929, located at Henderson and Olentangy River Rd. was suggested for a tour. This is open to the public April 24 - May 15, and tickets are $3. in advance or $3.50 at the door.

Members decided to consider participation in the Farmers Market during Old Fashion Bargain Days later this summer.

Mrs. Lewis Thomson sent a clipping from the Los Angeles Times about the snowstorm in Fayette County. She was vacationing in California and the article was read to club members by Mrs. Richard Rankin.

Mrs. David Krupla presented the program topic, "Seeds and New Plants." She told how to plant seeds and germination. She also told of the winners for 1977 in vegetables and flowers and the all-American Roses for 1977.

Hints for the months of January and February were read by Mrs. Craig: feed the birds, use a pipe cleaner to tie up the house plants for they are easier on the plants than string.

Refreshments were served.

Alpha Theta plans for future

New goals for Alpha Theta, No. 538, were discussed when members met recently in the home of Mrs. Bill Marting. Karen Hoppes, president, announced that Mrs. Fred Zechman had volunteered to be chairman of the annual Bike Ride for St. Jude's Children's Hospital. A personal letter from Danny Thomas was read, thanking the chapter for its contributions to St. Jude's over the past three years.

Vice president Karen Bernard led a discussion concerning the future 'rush' program and philanthropic goals for the chapter.

Plans for the spring charity dance on April 16, co-sponsored with the Beta Omega Chapter, were discussed. The music for the dance will be furnished by the Bandians. Tickets will be available at a later date from members of both chapters. Alpha Theta and Beta Omega will meet on March 21 to complete plans for the dance.

HAMANTASCHEN — A prune or poppyseed-filled "cake," traditionally served at the Jewish festival of Purim.

Taste a little Hamantaschen

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

Associated Press Food Editor

DEAR CECILY: Do you have a recipe for Hamantaschen, the filled tricorner "cakes" served at the Jewish holiday of Purim? I tasted them at a neighbor's house and would like to make them. My neighbor doesn't use exact measurements, which I feel I need. — NEW COOK.

DEAR NEW COOK: Jack Lichtner of Far Rockaway, N.Y., who is proud of his wife's cooking, got her recipe for Hamantaschen for me. Mrs. Lichtner says the dough is a basic one that she also used for cookies and apple cake. Although Hamantaschen are baked especially for the joyous festival of Purim (this year on March 4), some cooks make them at other times of the year. Besides the prune filling, poppyseed filling is also used. — C.B.

MRS. LICHTNER'S
HAMANTASCHEN

- 4 1/2 cups flour
- 1 tablespoon baking powder
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup corn oil
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 tablespoon grated orange rind
- 1-3rd cup orange juice
- 4 large eggs

Prune filling, see note below

Stir together the flour, baking powder and salt. In the large bowl of an electric mixer, at medium speed, beat together the corn oil, sugar, orange rind and juice until well-mixed. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Gradually stir in the flour mixture until blended. Cover and refrigerate several hours or overnight. On a prepared pastry cloth with a prepared stockinet-covered rolling pin, roll out dough to 1/4-inch thickness. Cut into 3 1/4-inch rounds. Spoon 1/2 tablespoon of filling into the center of each round. Form tricorners by bringing up edges of dough almost to center and making 3 seams — some filling should show in center. Press seams together. Place on ungreased cookie sheet. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven until lightly browned — 12 to 15 minutes. Makes about 4 1/2 dozen.

Note: Mrs. Lichtner uses canned prune filling. To make your own: In a medium saucepan simmer 1 pound pitted prunes until very soft — 15 to 20 minutes; drain. In an electric blender, at high speed, puree for 3 minutes. Return to saucepan; stir in 1/2 cup sugar and 1/4 cup orange juice; cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until mixture boils. Cool before using. Makes about 2 and 1-3rd cups.

Average OSU pay highest in Big Ten

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) -Average pay for OSU faculty members this school year is $21,990, which is slightly higher than the average at other Big Ten institutions.

The OSU Senate was told Saturday that the pay represents a 2.9 per cent increase in real purchasing power between July 1967 and July 1976.

But, said David H. Boyne, chairman of the agricultural economics and rural sociology department, a "minimum average salary increase" of "at least six per cent" is necessary as of July to keep the faculty average real purchasing power constant.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Last Monday, public TV began an ambitious six-part series, "Microbes and Men," which dramatizes the lives and work of a handful of 19th century pioneers who made modern medicine possible.

It chronicles the part they played in proving microscopic organism cause disease, and their struggles to convince their peers that tiny, living bugs, not bad vapors or poor Ying and Yang, cause illness.

The first show concerned the discovery of Ignaz Semmelweis, an obstetrician in Vienna, of the principle of contagious disease.

Tonight's hour concerns French chemist Louis Pasteur's discovery that microbes exist, his theory they can cause illness, and German physician Robert Koch's proof a specific type can cause a specific disease.

Viewers conversant with bacteriology no doubt will find the show and the entire series fascinating. For others, it'll prove a mighty challenge, maybe a feeling the new tax forms are much easier to follow.

I fall in the latter category. To me, a Petri dish is what you serve Petri in. What I know about bacilli wouldn't fill a titration tube. Heck, I still believe in the phlogiston theory.

But have a go at tonight's episode, "A Germ Is Life," starring Arthur Lowe as Pasteur and James Grout as Koch. Be warned, though, it isn't your usual science drama, full of flashes of inspiration.

There are no sudden cries from the lab, of "Zut alors, Pierre, the culture turned green!"

Nay, it's a very low-key study, in separate chapters, of the two pioneers. It details their work so painstakingly nonscientists may grouse they can't tell the microbes without a playbill.

Those seeking high drama will have to make do with, say, Pasteur's declaration to his peers that "the correlation between disease and the presence of organisms is certain and indisputable."

If that won't suffice, try Koch's announcement, after his proof of the one-organism, onedisease theory, that "this leads us naturally to the next step — which is the conquering of all disease in man."

Later episodes go from immunization to the discovery of the drug that kills syphilis, each show also depicting the heartbreak that often comes with being first in one's field.

Jonas Salk of the Salk Institute for Biological Studies appears in each show to tell the significance of each subject's work.

"Microbes and Men" was coproduced by the British Broadcasting Corp. and TimeLife Films, and bought by station KCET here with grants from the Arthur Vining Davis Foundation and Hoffman-LaRoche, Inc.

As a child were you given some adult assurance of curly hair and strong eyes for life if you ate carrots? You probably forgot those promised miracles with your first munch. Beauty and vision are precious, but carrots are good just for being carrots.

Teddy V. Miller, 311 W. Circle Ave., told police officers that sometime between 9:30 p.m. Friday and 10:25 a.m. Saturday a citizen's band radio valued at $140 was taken from his automobile which was parked in front of his residence.

David C. Riley of Bloomingburg told police officers that sometime Saturday between 7:30 a.m. and 5:25 p.m. someone stole a $50 citizen's band radio from his car parked at the municipal parking lot No. 2, corner of East and S. Main Streets.

A third citizens band radio theft was reported by Dale H. Willis of 573 Waverly Drive. He told police officers that a radio valued at $140 was taken from his car between 6 p.m. Saturday and 7 a.m. Sunday.

Robert Copeland, 1031 Lakeview Ave., reported the theft of a $40 citizen's band radio antenna from his car sometime before 7 a.m. Sunday morning.

Two broken window reports were also investigated by police officers over the weekend.

Virgil Wilson, 326 Cherry St., told police officers that someone threw a rock through a basement window at his residence at 11:57 a.m. Sunday.

Harold A. Daly, 919 Briar Ave., told police that a bedroom window at his home was broken by a rock early Sunday morning. The window was valued at $50.

Another vandalism report was turned in by Karen Helmick, 237 Green St. She told police officers that someone slit two tires on her auto between 4 p.m. and 9 p.m. Saturday. The tires were valued at $75.

Police officers also reported that a 13-year-old Washington C.H. girl was arrested for shoplifting at the Convenient Food Mart, W. Court Street, Sunday evening, Pat Ann Smith, an employee at the store, told police that the girl failed to pay for a 91-cent TV dinner.

The Fayette County Sheriff's Department is investigating a tire theft report. Mike Little of Jeffersonville told sheriff's deputies that two trailer tires were taken from a vehicle parked at the Sohio Stop 35 service station over the weekend.

Little said he parked the trailer owned by Transport Pull Inc. of Cleveland, at the site Saturday afternoon and when he returned Sunday morning the tires were missing.

Locate tet leak source

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP)—Officials of the Environmental Protection Agency indicated they located the site of a possible leak during inspection of FMC's South Charleston plant Sunday.

But according to state water resources inspector Lacy Zimmerman, the EPA officials made no specific recommendation on improving the tanks. The officials reported their findings to the company in a two-hour debriefing session following the inspection.

Zimmerman said the EPA reported that its readings on the thickness of the carbon tet tank walls were "very close" to data collected by FMC.

"The accuracy of FMC's testing equipment is sound," Zimmerman said. FMC has disavowed complete responsibility for a 70-ton spill of carbon tet which was found in the Kanawha River recently, arguing that its tanks are adequately constructed and maintained to prevent such a spill.

Zimmerman said a written report, including findings and suggestions for upgrading the facility, will probably be submitted to FMC by Friday.

Dancer held; bit woman

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP) — A male go-go dancer is scheduled to appear in Delaware Municipal Court March 16, charged with biting a woman in the derriere during a performance.

Jeremiah Shastid, 25, Dayton, was arrested Saturday in connection with the Wednesday night incident at the Riverview Country Club. He was charged with assault and released on $100 bond.

Sheriff's deputies said Marjorie White of Columbus told authorities she was dancing with Shastid as part of his routine and he bit her on the buttocks when she turned her back to him.

The 25-year-old woman said her skin was broken and she bled. She received a tetanus shot and two stitches at a Columbus hospital.

Shastid and his all male disco revue choose women from their mostly female audiences to dance with and help them strip their clothing during the act.

Merrill's bomb big factor

Tigers outlast Trace in double overtime

By SCOTT SEFTON
Record-Herald Sports Writer
CIRCLEVILLE, Ohio — With both Miami Trace and Circleville out of contention for the SCOL title, the two teams displayed the kind of enthusiasm you might expect in a league championship encounter.

The Tigers finally outlasted the Panthers in double overtime to take a 71-69 win Saturday night.

Circleville was leading 62-60 near the end of the game when the Tigers went into a four corner stall. The offense melted away 1:30 from the clock until they turned the ball over to Trace with 22 seconds left in the first overtime.

Circleville's Frank Merrill fouled Panther guard Art Schlichter with nine seconds remaining and Schlichter calmly deposited both free throws to tie the game. The Tigers turned the ball over on the inbounds pass and Schlichter bombed a 20-footer with :04 showing to put the Panthers up, 64-62.

The Tigers found Merrill somewhere near mid-court and he launched a 35-foot miracle that found the hoop to put the game into the second overtime period.

"It was a play we have set up," said an emotionally drained Tigers coach Jim Bailey about Merrill's final shot. "I thought we had them beat twice earlier but they wouldn't choke on the foul shots."

The first quarter scoring began of a 15-footer by Schlichter and Trace's scoring ended with two jumpers by Schlichter to give them a 10-8 lead.

Circleville got hot early in the second quarter and built up a 20-14 margin on baskets by Tom Taylor, Roy Huffer, Toren Bensonhaver, and Brent Wright.

The Panthers roared back as Dan Gifford and Schlichter combined four seven points. Bill Hanners and Tom Richardson each scored two points at the end of the half to give Miami Trace a 25-22 lead at intermission.

The Tigers jumped out to a 26-25 lead in the third quarter to gain their last lead until late in the fourth quarter.

Hanners led the Panthers in the third period with six points while Gifford and Schlichter combined for eight more as Trace took a 44-38 third quarter lead.

Schlichter started the Panthers off with a bucket in the fourth quarter, increasing the Panther lead to a substantial eight points. But, Circleville was not ready to give up as they reeled off eight unanswered points to tie the score.

Eric Pontious drove the lane and forced a shot that found the nets to put the Tigers up by two with 10 seconds left in regulation time.

After calling time out, Trace gave the Ball to Schlichter who drove in for a shot that missed while Hanners was being fouled. The 6-3 junior dropped both free throws to send the game into overtime.

The Panthers were leading with four seconds left in the first overtime when Merrill got off his cannon shot. And, in the second extra session, Circleville got five points ahead to whip the Panthers, 71-69.

Schlichter led the way in the scoring department for Trace with 25 points. Hanners followed Schlichter with 20 points and the forward grabbed 13 rebounds. Gifford also hit double figures with 10 tallies.

Circleville placed four players in double figures led by Bensonhaver with 25 to tie Schlichter for the game lead. Taylor chalked up 12 points and Wright hit 11 points. Merrill added 10 onto the winning score.

Wright pulled down 16 rebounds to lead in that department.

The Panthers finished SCOL play this season with a 6-6 record while their overall record was also even at 9-9.

Miami Trace plays their next game Wednesday, Mar. 2 at Athens. It will be the second round of their sectional tournament against Logan. Game time at the Ohio University Convocation Center is 8:30 p.m.

SCHLICHTER AND A HOST OF OTHERS — Miami Trace's Art Schlichter goes in for a lay up to add to his 25 points in Saturday's game versus Circleville. The Tigers outlasted the Panthers 71-69 in double overtime.

The Circleville reserves clinched the SCOL reserve championship with a hard fought 51-49 win over the Miami Trace reserves Saturday night.

The win gave the Tigers a 10-1 record in league play.

Turnovers plagued the Panthers in their upset bid as they committed 25 miscues, several coming in the closing minutes of the game when Circleville held only a slim two point lead.

Panther John Persinger led all scorers with 23 points, nine of them in the last quarter Miami Trace surge.

Miami Trace outscored the Tigers from the field, hitting 21 goals to the Tigers 16 but the Panthers had only 10 chances from the foul line, making good on seven of them. Circleville had 27 free shots and made 19.

Wooster, Muskingum in OAC finals

Wooster's been there. For Muskingum, the Ohio Conference basketball tournament finals tonight are a new experience.

Wooster won the title in its only other experience in 1973. The two rivals did not meet during the regular season.

"We know they are an excellent team with good balance," Muskingum Coach Jim Burson said of Wooster, the Northern Division playoff winner over Heidelberg 74-61.

Meanwhile, the Muskies ended Ohio Wesleyan's Cinderella trail with a 90-61 rout for the Southern Division laurels. Muskingum will carry a 20-5 record against Wooster, 20-6, in the title game at Otterbein.

The winner automatically qualifies for the NCAA Division III Great Lakes Regional at Wittenberg Friday and Saturday. The Tigers, as host team, are also in the four-team field.

Pete Liptrap's 24 points led five double figure scorers for Muskingum, which led Ohio Wesleyan by 36 points at one point. Mike McCoy had 11 for the Bishops, 12-12.

George Zambie came off the bench to score 14 points and pace Wooster past Heidelberg, 13-14. Dave Frye and Sam Dixon led the Scots with 16 each. Chris Reichert had 15 for the Princes.

Elsewhere in Ohio college basketball Saturday, Miami kept its Mid-American Conference lead and Cincinnati, ranked 14th nationally, posted its 22nd victory this winter.

The Redskins thumped Ohio University 83-62 behind Chuck Goodyear's season-high 29 points. Cincinnati, 22-4, waxed Jacksonville 78-61 with Brian Williams sinking 19 points.

Baseball suffers with Finley, Kuhn battle

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent
NEW YORK (AP) — The tug o' war between baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn and the maverick owner of the Oakland A's, Charles O. Finley, is getting ludicrous.

To the average fan, not attuned to the inner ramifications, it smacks of a personal feud, vendettas, unnecessary needling and name-calling.

Baseball suffers.

The game can't absorb too much dissension of this sort. The two leagues are at odds over expansion. Players, for a century held in virtual servitude, are taking advantage of their newfound freedom by demanding outblown multi-million dollar contracts.

The old management-player relationship has virtually disappeared. An icy barrier has been raised between owner and player. There is a sharp division among owners — the big spenders drawing the ire of the hold-the-line conservatives, led by Calvin Griffith of Minnesota.

Fans are fed up with threatened strikes, lockouts and court suits. They are sick and tired of seeing the commissioner clamp down on Finley and the A's owner retaliating with taunts that Kuhn is the "national idiot."

Now Commissioner Kuhn has invited a second court action from Finley by delaying the sale of Oakland relief pitcher Paul Lindblad to the Texas Rangers for $400,000.

Kuhn is calling Finley on the carpet in Dallas Wednesday to ask the Oakland boss why the deal was made. The average American, without exploring the festering sore that has existed between the two men, might suggest that Finley reply: "Because I wanted to."

It all seems simple enough. Finley owns a piece of property. He wants to sell it. Baseball clubs have been carrying on such negotiations for more than 100 years without drawing any official intervention.

Last summer Finley tried to sell three players—Joe Rudi, Rolie Fingers (to the Red Sox) and Vida Blue (to the Yankees) for $3.5 million. He said he wanted the money to start buying a fresh team.

The commissioner said "no." Finley retaliated with a $3.5 million suit. A Chicago federal judge has the case under advisement.

The commissioner insisted he voided the Fingers, Rudi and Blue deals last year and recently stayed the Lindblad sale to protect the game.

Why wasn't similar action taken in the 1930s when Connie Mack broke up his world championship lineup by peddling such stars as Al Simmons, Jimmy Foxx, Lefty Grove and Mickey Cochrane?

Why was no stir raised when the Red Sox sold Babe Ruth to the Yankees for $100,000 plus a mortgage on Fenway Park, or the Cardinals' Branch Rickey unloaded Dizzy Dean, Joe Medwick and Johnny Mize, among countless such club actions?

If the commissioner has the personal right to maintain the competitive balance of the game, what would prevent him from voiding the multi-million dollar deals that brought Reggie Jackson and Don Gullett to the already powerful Yankees and similar raids on the free agent market which made the rich richer and the poor poorer?

Hillsboro beats Wellston

Hillsboro advanced to the second round of the Paint Valley Sectional Tournament with a 68-46 win over Wellston Saturday night.

Wellston could manage only two points in the second quarter and just three in the fourth quarter as Hillsboro had little trouble with the Rockets.

Tim Fuller led Hillsboro with 24 points while Gary Coffman received 18 points and Randy Sanders contributed 10.

Bill Hudson and Jim Royster each collected 13 for Wellston.

Hillsboro will play Waverly next Thursday for a trip to the sectional finals to meet the winners of the Washington C.H.-Greenfield McClain game.

Martin, Stuckey top classes

Panthers take satisfying fourth at sectional tourney

By MARK REA
Record-Herald Sports Editor
ATHENS, Ohio — Miami Trace grabbed a fourth place in the sectional wrestling tournament Saturday and was only one and a half points out of third place.

"I'm very pleased with the performance Saturday," said Panthers head coach Glenn Jacobson. "There were some pleasant surprises."

Chillicothe won the sectional with 193½ points, but the Panthers walked off with two first places, one second, and two thirds.

Wearing sectional crowns are Scott Martin at 145 pounds and Jim Stuckey at 155 pounds. Both were top seeded in their weight classes.

Shawn Riley captured second place at 175 pounds while Bruce Fennig finished third at 126 pounds and Tim Gilispie took a third at 98 pounds.

Martin adds the sectional title to his SCOL crown won a week ago. He decided three straight opponents on his way to the crown. "Martin wrestled a technically smart match," said Jacobson, "against some very strong opposition."

Stuckey decided two of his opponents while pinning a third. Jacobson praised Stuckey by saying, "He wrestled a smart match and didn't rely only on his strength. He put on some good moves especially when he only took 34 seconds to pin one guy."

The Panther grappler coach also singled out Gilispie and J.R. Wilson for "good jobs for rookie wrestlers. They both wrestled well."

Fennig took a third despite a neck injury that hampered his movement Saturday. "I was pleased with Bruce but disappointed that he only got a third after winning three matches. But, he was in a tough class and wrestled well even with that bad neck," said Jacobson.

Mike Camstra and Riley were also singled out by the Panther coach. "Mike did a good job in his first starting role and he was wrestling up a weight class. Riley was one of the most pleasant surprises of the day."

Of John Burr at 185 pounds, Jacobson related, "He learned some valuable lessons today that will help him next year. He was in the toughest weight class but he wrestled well and will be back next year."

Heavyweight Chris Schlichter also turned in a good performance according to Jacobson and Schlichter has become "one of the most improved wrestlers this season," said the Trace coach.

Jacobson will get his three top wrestlers ready for district competition this week. Martin, Stuckey, and Riley will travel to Marietta on Saturday to compete in the district championships.

Nicklaus wins Gleason title

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — "I sort of steamrolled ahead," was the way Jack Nicklaus explained his 61st PGA tournament title, in the $250,000 Jackie Gleason-Inverrary Classic.

The game's 37-year-old master fell one shot behind playing partner Gary Player on the eighth hole Sunday, then outshot Player by seven shots on the next nine holes and finished five shots ahead of the South African to claim $50,000.

"I really don't think I'm a great frontrunner," said Nicklaus, who entered the day a shot ahead of Gil Morgan and two up on Player.

"Once I got one shot behind (with consecutive bogeys on Nos. 7 and 8), I just made up my mind and played more aggressive. I played better behind at that point," said Nicklaus, who had a closing two-under 70.

North Carolina stops Louisville

Tar Heels take ACC title

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer
The North Carolina Tar Heels pulled off a great double play over the weekend.

They won the Atlantic Coast Conference regular-season title with a little help from North Carolina State, then beat Louisville with a lot of help from Phil Ford.

"It looked like we were worn out," said North Carolina Coach Dean Smith after Sunday's nationally televised 96-89 victory over Louisville.

The Tar Heels had every right to be tired. They had beaten Duke 84-71 Saturday, then sweated through an emotionally draining day before finding out how Wake Forest would do that night.

The Deacons were upset by North Carolina State 91-85, thus giving the ACC championship to North Carolina.

Then, North Carolina defeated the nation's 10th-ranked club.

North Carolina led Louisville by as many as 22 points in the second half of the game at Charlotte, N.C., and, led by Ford, held off a late Cardinals rally.

The brilliant guard scored 26 points and orchestrated the sensitive "Four Corner" offense for the ninth-ranked Tar Heels.

"It's hard to be ahead by 20 against such a good team like Louisville," Smith said. "Louisville is not going to fall over and play dead when they're down by 20."

Elsewhere in the Top 10 Saturday, No. 1 San Francisco squeezed past Portland University 95-92; No. 2 Kentucky defeated Alabama 85-70; No. 3 Michigan edged Michigan State 69-65 in overtime; No. 5 UCLA hammered California 91-69 and Georgia shocked No. 7 Tennessee 83-76.

In other games, No. 12 Providence stopped St. John's 69-66; No. 13 Minnesota nipped Illinois 72-70; No. 14 Cincinnati outscored Jacksonville 78-61; No. 15 Syracuse turned back Rutgers 82-72; No. 16 Detroit walloped Cincinnati-Xavier 91-66; No. 17 Oregon edged Washington 61-60; No. 18 Marquette beat Virginia Tech 75-70; No. 19 Clemson embarrassed Roanoke 120-56, and New Mexico upset No. 20 Utah 81-77.

North Carolina held a 57-38 halftime lead and expanded that to 70-48 early in the second half before Louisville came back on the shooting of Wesley Cox and Rick Wilson, who led all scorers with 30 points.

But Ford scored crucial points, and freshman star Mike O'Koren, who also had 26, thwarted the Louisville comeback before a sellout crowd of 11,666 at the Charlotte Coliseum.

Saturday's victory and the first-place finish earned the Tar Heels a bye in the first round of the ACC playoffs, starting Thursday. North Carolina will play Friday night in the semifinals against the winner of the Maryland-North Carolina State game. Other first-round matchups include Wake Forest vs. Virginia and Clemson vs. Duke.

Bill Cartwright scored 33 points and led San Francisco on a 14-2 tear late in the game, helping the undefeated Dons beat Portland for their 29th straight victory this season. The big center had three baskets in the middle of the streak as the Dons rallied from an 11-point deficit against the underdog Pilots.

James Lee triggered a Kentucky rally late in the second half that sent the Wildcats past Alabama and into sole possession of first place in the Southeastern Conference. This was accomplished by Tennessee's loss to Georgia.

Rickey Green scored 20 points, including a crucial basket in overtime, helping Michigan beat Michigan State.

Marques Johnson scored 37 points in his last home game in Pauley Pavilion, leading UCLA over California. UCLA's victory clinched a tie for the Pac-8 title. Walter Daniels and Curtis Jackson combined on a 10-point rally in the final two minutes as Georgia, the last-place team in the SEC, upset Tennessee.

Bruce Campbell scored 21 points, leading Providence over St. John's. Ray Williams sank two free throws with 30 seconds left, lifting Minnesota past Illinois. Brian Williams' 19 points led Cincinnati over Jacksonville. Syracuse defeated Rutgers as Jimmy Williams and Dale Shackelford teamed for 42 points.

John Long's 24 points paced Detroit over Cincinnati-Xavier. Ernie Kent scored the last four points for Oregon, helping the Ducks defeat Washington and remain mathematically alive in the Pac-8 race.

Butch Lee scored 22 points and Bo Ellis connected for 18, leading Marquette past VPI. Colin Abraham had 23 points in only 20 minutes, pacing

Clemson's rout of Roanoke. Michael Cooper's 24 points, including four free throws in the final 15 seconds, helped New Mexico defeat Utah.

Elsewhere, three major conferences started post-season tournaments — the Big Eight, Southwest and Southern.

In first-round games of the Big Eight, Kansas beat Nebraska 61-58, Oklahoma defeated Colorado 68-56, Missouri trimmed Oklahoma State 92-74, and Kansas State defeated Iowa State 97-62.

In the SWC, Baylor upset Texas 72-70, Texas Tech trounced Rice 93-74, Texas A&M whipped SMU 89-79.

Here's the Answer

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

Q — In moving into our house recently, some furniture was dragged across the dining room floor and left scratches in the hardwood. They aren't very deep, but we would like to touch them up anyhow. How can this be done? There is no finish on the floor, except possibly a little wax.

A — If there is wax on the floor where the scratches are, remove it. Using a tiny brush, like those sold to artists, dip the tips of the bristles in varnish. Run the bristles lightly over the scratches. Wipe off any excess, especially on the part of the floor which is not marred. Wait a couple of days. If the touched-up portions are too glossy, dull them with a fine grade of steel wool. If you are going to finish the entire floor, be sure all wax is removed first. When the new finish has hardened, re wax.

Q — There is a tiny hole in the concrete wall in our basement. Water trickles from it every time there is a heavy rain. I intend to fix it shortly, but what I would like to know is whether such a hole can be filled while the water is coming out of it or must the area be entirely dry?

A — It is better to make the repair when everything is dry, but if this is not practical, such a hole can be plugged with what is called hydraulic cement. It is a putty-like material that is used just as it comes out of the can. Follow the directions on the label. Usually, the instructions are to make a tiny ball of the material in your hands, then push it into the opening and hold it there for several minutes. The material has the capacity to set even when the leak is taking place. It is well to keep an eye on the wall the next time it rains, because sometimes when a hole of that sort is plugged, the water will seek out some other weak point in the concrete and force its way through. Not so incidentally, have you taken any steps to keep the water away from the house foundation, such as banking the soil away from the outside wall and seeing that water from the roof doesn't settle down next to the wall?

Q — There is a banging noise every time the cold water faucet in our kitchen sink is turned off. I thought a washer might be loose, but I checked completely and found it to be in good shape. Is there anything I can do about this?

A — Sounds as though an air chamber in the plumbing system may be filled with water instead of air, as it should be. Try shutting off the main water valve into the house and opening all faucets in all rooms. The idea is to replace the air in the air chambers. If, when everything is restored to normal, the banging still occurs, you will have to call a plumber.

Opening lead — seven of hearts.

A reader wants to know what went wrong with the bidding in this deal. She was South and opened one club, which everybody passed.

West led a heart and declarer took East's king with the ace. After drawing trumps, South cashed the ace of spades, felling East's king.

A spade lead to the nine permitted her to lead the ten of hearts and finesse when East followed low. Another heart lead trapped East's jack, and the lady later took a second spade finesse that succeeded.

School budget said insufficient

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — A proposed 1977 general fund budget of $65.3 million is insufficient for several areas of the Akron school system, says Supt. Conrad C. Ott.

Ott said Saturday that the proposal, although up $1.7 million from 1976, will be insufficient for continue class size reductions mandated by the state, salary increases and any educational improvements or extension of programs.

The proposed spending package was balanced by cuts in nonpersonnel items such as supplies and equipment.

In addition, Asst. Supt. Harry Sabgir said a 10 per cent increase provided for utilities probably would not cover rising utility bills, which were 59 per cent higher in January than those for January 1976.

The now extinct Bellaire, Zanesville and Western Railroad once was called, facetiously, the "Bent, Zigzag and Wobbly" railway because its roadbed followed so many turns and trestles. — AP

But, total fatalities increase

1976 state traffic death rate matches all-time record low

COLUMBUS, Ohio — State Highway Safety Director Robert M. Chiaramonte today said provisional year-end figures show Ohio's 1976 traffic death rate matched the all-time record low of 2.8 deaths per 100 million vehicle miles traveled established in 1975.

Chiaramonte said the figures indicate that Ohio tied with Pennsylvania for the lowest death rate among states with comparable vehicle populations. He compared the Ohio figure of 2.8 deaths per 100 million vehicle miles traveled with those of Pennsylvania (also 2.8), Illinois (3.0), Michigan (3.3) and Texas (3.7).

While Ohio motorists were able to duplicate the record-low 1975 death rate in 1976, Chiaramonte pointed out that total traffic fatalities in the state increased from 1,776 in 1975 to 1,870 in 1976 — a 5.3 per cent rise. He also noted that fatal accidents increased from 1,604 in 1975 to 1,648 in 1976 — a 2.7 per cent increase. He explained that the death rate remained at 2.8 per 100 million vehicle miles traveled despite these increases because the number of miles driven on Ohio roadways also increased significantly.

"We have to be pleased that Ohio's traffic safety record for 1976 continued to rank among the very best in the country's but there's no escaping the fact that more than 1,800 people still lost their lives on our streets and highways," Chiaramonte said.

"The only 'magic number' in traffic safety statistics is zero," he added, "but it is important to analyze where and how and why last year's fatal accidents happened so we can prevent similar tragedies in the future."

Of the 1,648 fatal accidents recorded during 1976, 1,489 were single-fatality crashes, 121 were double-fatality accidents, 24 involved three fatalities, 10 were four-death accidents, one accident killed five persons, one six-death accident, one accident killed five persons, one six-death crash was recorded and two separate accidents each killed eight persons. Prior to 1976 there had been only one eight-fatality accident recorded in Ohio over the past 10 years — that one occurring in 1973. Chiaramonte reported that 72 more persons were killed in multiple-death accidents last year than were killed in similar accidents in 1975 — accounting for most of the overall increase in fatalities. He said the higher number of multi-death crashes in 1976 explains why there was a 5.3 per cent rise in deaths but only 2.7 per cent increase in fatal accidents between 1975 and 1976.

Among other significant details included in the provisional 1976 report, Chiaramonte listed the following:

—Cuyahoga County recorded the greatest number of fatal accidents (168) and the most fatalities (190), followed by Montgomery County — 92 fatal accidents, 103 deaths; Hamilton County — 90 accidents, 99 deaths; and Franklin County — 83 fatal crashes, 90 deaths. At the other end of the scale, Morgan and Noble counties recorded zero traffic deaths during 1976; while Harrison and Highland counties each had two fatalities.

—Peak accident months were May, with 168 fatal crashes and 189 deaths, and August with 193 deaths arising from 163 accidents.

—Weekends remained the most dangerous time to drive. Saturday was high-death day with 358 recorded fatalities, followed by Friday with 313 deaths and Sunday with 294.

—The most dangerous time slot was between 2 and 3 a.m.; some 136 persons lost their lives during that hour. Next most dangerous hours were 11 to 12 p.m. (133 deaths); 9 to 10 p.m. (117) and 8 to 9 p.m. (110).

—The greatest number of traffic deaths occurred in the 15-19 age group (388). Next highest was the 20-24 age bracket (299), and third highest was the 25-29 group with 186 recorded fatalities.

—Of the 1,870 persons killed in traffic accidents, 1,349 were females and 521 were males. Of these 1,870 deaths, 1,152 occurred in a rural setting while 718 occurred within the corporation limits of a city or town.

—749 persons died in collisions with other motor vehicles, 595 died in fixed-object accidents, and 282 were killed in pedestrian accidents.

—In fatal accidents where a probable cause could be determined, the leading probable cause was excessive speed (295 accidents), followed by driving under the influence of alcohol or drugs (222), failure to yield (218) and pedestrian actions (211).

Prostitutes target of Dayton police

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Prostitutes and their customers are the targets of a local cleanup campaign by police, but the tactic of arresting them for jaywalking, spitting on sidewalks and littering is raising the ire of the local chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union.

The police department has armed a 12-man task force with every law possible to chase streetwalkers and their customers from downtown. And officers say they believe the method is working.

Officers also will be taking pictures and conducting interviews on the streets to enforce the city's ordinance on congregating, according to Maj. Gilbert H. Thurman, superintendent of police operations.

"We're at the point where we can keep a constant presence and pressure on streetwalkers that will enable us to have some success" with the new method, he said.

However, Asher Bogin of the Dayton chapter of the ACLU, doesn't like it.

"It may well be unconstitutional to photograph somebody who is not committing a crime," he said. "It may violate a person's right to privacy. They (police) know it's not right. But they just want to see if they can get away with it."

"I think it's an abuse of police powers," Bogin added. "They don't have enough evidence to arrest them so they will try and bother them to death. These underhanded tactics indicate the police are powerless."

Thurman agreed that some tactics are in gray areas, but emphasized that police want to try everything possible to rid the city of prostitution. He said previous efforts to wipe out prostitution, such as undercover officers posing as prostitutes to arrest customers, were only temporarily successful.

Governor seeking disaster guidelines

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes and fellow governors discussed delays in receiving federal disaster relief Sunday as they prepared for a meeting today with President Carter and other administration officials.

Rhodes, in Washington for a meeting of the National Governors Conference, said property owners deserve to know disaster guidelines in the event of a calamity.

He asked the governor's to support a study of new guidelines of what constitutes a federal disaster.

State Development Director James

Duerk, who accompanied Rhodes on the Washington trip, noted that the governor on three occasions had failed to convince President Carter to have the state or portions of the state declared a federal disaster area.

The development director said Ohio was declared an "emergency state" in early February, but said funds were limited to payments for snow removal. He reported Rhodes' consternation with the fact that most of the snow had melted or was cleared away before that aid came.

"People should be able to know ahead of time what they can anticipate in federal relief when trouble strikes," Rhodes said. "As it is now, there is no real definition (for what constitutes a disaster), and it all seems to be determined by the whims of the bureaucrats."

Duerk said a survey indicated Ohio suffered losses of more than $100 million because of damage related to the severe cold weather and the related energy crisis. Duerk cited losses in damage to roads and highways, losses sustained by farmers and municipal water shortages.

The damage survey has been completed and submitted to federal officials, Duerk said, with the state awaiting word on the possibility of some belated reimbursement aid.

The conference executive committee, of which Rhodes is a member, supported his call for new disaster criteria. The executive committee is composed of nine governors, chaired by Florida Gov. Reubin Askew. Of the nine, only Pennsylvania Gov. Milton Shapp was absent, Duerk said.

Lily Tomlin opens show

NEW YORK (AP) — Ten years ago, Lily Tomlin was wearily waiting tables at a Howard Johnson's restaurant in midtown Manhattan. Now she's back in the city for her Broadway debut in a one-woman show, "Appearing Nitey."

According to the zany lady of television's "Laugh-In" fame, there'll be very little glitter.

She says it will feature just Lily and her "pieces" — those slice-of-life characterizations of Bobbi-Jeanine, the cocktail organist, 5-year-old Edith Ann in a rocking chair and Ernestine the telephone operator — whose troubles and dreams many Americans readily identify with.

Uganda president claims no harm to Yanks planned

Amin moves meet to Entebbe

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — President Idi Amin has moved his meeting with Americans in Uganda to Entebbe Airport, delayed it until Wednesday and warned the United States not to emulate its Israeli allies with an attempted commando rescue.

In Washington, President Carter said the U.S. government was watching the situation "closely, trying not to upset President Amin, and trying to take advantage of his good wishes that he has expressed."

Radio Uganda reported on Sunday that Amin postponed the meeting from 11 a.m. Monday until 8 a.m. Wednesday at the request of the Americans in his East African country, who are estimated by the State Department to number about 240. Most of them are missionaries.

Amin said no Americans would be allowed to leave the country and ordered the meeting Friday, two days after he claimed the United States, Britain and Israel were involved in a plot to overthrow him.

Sunday's broadcast said the location of the meeting had been changed from the International Conference Center in Kampala, the capital, because the main lounge at Entebbe was the only facility in the country large enough to accommodate the 3,000 persons who were to attend. However, there was no indication who would be present beside the Americans and Amin.

The official radio also warned Ugandans to be alert for signs of an invasion. It said after the Israeli raid on Entebbe last July, the presence of U.S. naval vessels off the Kenyan coast "must be taken seriously."

Quoting a "military spokesman," believed to be Amin himself, the broadcast said: "In the event of an invasion, the invading force will be disintegrated by the Ugandan armed forces."

The United States said the nuclear-powered aircraft carrier Enterprise and its escorts were cruising in the Indian Ocean off East Africa following a good-will visit to Kenya last week.

Radio Uganda said Amin at the meeting Wednesday would discuss with the Americans a memorandum being prepared on their activities since the U.S. Embassy in Kampala was closed in 1973. The broadcast said Amin wanted to thank them for their work and planned to award medals to a few of them.

The State Department said it received an invitation from the Ugandan government to send representatives to the meeting. A spokesman said there had been no U.S. response and he did not know if there would be. Ugandan officials also said some foreign correspondents might be allowed to attend.

President Carter said the United Nations had offered to intercede on the Americans' behalf, "but we've handled our affairs through the German embassy and so far there's nothing to cause deep concern."

The United States closed its embassy in Kampala in 1973 but did not break relations, and the Ugandan embassy in Washington is still open.

On small, non-domestic customers

DP&L lifts some gas curbs

The Dayton Power and Light Co. lifted curtailments on small, non-domestic natural gas users Monday.

The utility company, which serves all of Fayette County, reported that the curtailments were lifted due to several factors including successful conservation efforts by customers.

Under the new curtailment plan, which was approved last week by the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio, customers who did not use more than 5,000 ccf in any one month of 1972 will receive 100 per cent of the 1972 allocation.

The ruling affected many small businesses and schools in the DP&L's 24-county service area.

Washington C.H. commercial businesses, which have curtailed operating hours for over a month due to the natural gas shortage, are returning to normal schedules.

"Most of them (area businesses) are back to near normal hours," George Malek, executive vice president of the Washington C.H. Area Chamber of Commerce, reported Monday morning.

Neither the Miami Trace or the Washington C.H. school districts have received any official word on the lifting of curtailments, and fuel conservation efforts will continue until some word is given.

Lewis Parrett, elementary coordinator of the Washington C.H. School District, said that Cherry Hill and Rose Avenue elementary schools will remain closed. The two buildings were closed earlier this month due to the natural gas shortage. Students have been attending classes at the Washington C.H. Middle School.

Parrett said that all three district buildings using natural gas were under a single allocation and he felt the three buildings combined had used over 5,000 ccf during any one winter month in 1972.

Besides the two closed elementary school buildings,

Washington Senior High School uses natural gas.

Parrett added that there may be more cold weather ahead for the area, and the two buildings would remain closed until conditions improve. He said that the district does not want to move students back to the two buildings one day and then have to send them back to the Middle School the next day because of the fuel crisis.

Steve Yambor, assistant superintendent of the Miami Trace School District, said he had received no word from DP&L on the lifting of curtailments, even though he felt the New Holland and Staunton school buildings would qualify under the announced curtailment plan of under 5,000 ccf.

Yambor added that the conversion of the heating system at Jeffersonville Elementary School was nearing completion. The building was heated by natural gas, but heating burners are being converted to use fuel oil.

Plans to convert heating systems at New Holland and Staunton schools to propane gas are also nearing completion. Yambor said the work will continue giving the school district an optional fuel source for future years.

Jeffersonville, New Holland, and Staunton schools along with the Bloomingburg gym are the only buildings in the county heated by natural gas. They gym has been closed for several months due to the gas shortage.

BESIDES THE lifting of curtailments on most small natural gas customers, the DP&L plan will return all other non-domestic customers to 45 per cent of their 1972 base period allocation. These customers, which include most industries, were advised to reduce gas usage to plant protection levels last month.

Those customers, who have exceeded 45 per cent of their winter allocation and who have not purchased alternate

Product liability claims eyed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Manufacturers' product liability is the latest problem in the apparent further development of a legal doctrine that says "when someone gets hurt, someone has to pay."

Rep. Vernon F. Cook, D-39 Cuyahoga Falls, said the problem is "near the dimensions" of the one that hit Ohio's medical profession two years ago when doctors and hospitals found themselves virtually unable to buy liability insurance at any price.

More recently, the Ohio State Bar Association took note of the same dilemma among lawyers—some of whom are suing each other for money—and called for a study to see if lawyers should follow the lead of physicians in trying to set up their own insurance company.

Cook introduced late last week a bill he said he hopes can help resolve the kinds of problems that come when a consumer or worker is injured by allegedly defective merchandise.

The product can be a toothbrush, or anything from a football helmet to an electric range, or factory lathe to Pinto or Mercedes-Benz, he said.

Lawsuits arising from product injuries and deaths are on the increase. A legislative committee found that in some cases, manufacturers' liability insurance increased by as much as 900 per cent in a year. Many Ohio firms are deciding to get out of the business to avoid what a spokesman called "guaranteed losses."

Thomas R. Johnson, president of the Ohio Manufacturers' Association, generally lauded Cook's bill but said it stops far short of what is needed. He said the measure only deals with about five or six of 18 problems the same committee pinpointed last year.

As in the case of medical liability, the problem is filled with legal complexities which the Summit County lawmaker acknowledged. "I'm not a lawyer," he said, adding that he hopes his bill can be at least a starting point for legislative hearings.

Cook's voluminous bill is expected to be referred to the House Committee on Insurance, Utilities, and Financial Institutions, possibly this week. The Senate and House resume deliberations Tuesday following weekend recess.

The 49-year-old University of Akron political science professor incorporated into his bill some of the recommendations of the legislature's joint select committee on small business problems. It heard testimony late last year on various kinds of business problems, including product liability.

Cook's bill has as its main thrust two provisions that restrict lawsuits against manufacturers as to time. It carries a general statute of limitations of 12 years, but also states that manufacturers must label their products with guarantees which apply only for a fixed number of years. There would be no liability after the guarantee date expired.

The legislation further provides for "scheduled payments of recovery" in those instances when a court awards damages.

Instead of the current law which permits a plaintiff to receive a huge award at one time, perhaps running into hundreds of thousands of dollars, Cook would permit installment payments only during the expected life time of the plaintiff.

Precluding what he called "a bionic man theory," payments would cease upon the death of the plaintiff. "Their relatives wouldn't be enriched. I don't think anyone should wind up better off than they were at the start," he said.

Cook said the 12-year statute of limitations proposed in his bill is "a much longer period" than the one or two years allowed for medical malpractice suits. But he stressed that it is negotiable. "It's a reasonable and moderated place to start," he said.

At least, he added, it will "demonstrate to the plaintiff bar, which will be upset with this (the legislation), that we are willing to be reasonable." Currently, there is no statute of limitations on such proceedings, Cook said.

Johnson said the manufacturers' association, which has about 1,500 members who operate 17,000 plants in Ohio, would like to see the bill go much further. It should put restrictions on third party suits in which a manufacturer can be held liable, for instance, when a worker is injured while using a machine that was purchased from another manufacturer, he said.

Traditionally, until recently, he said, such an employer was protected through the state workmen's compensation program when it awarded compensation to the injured party. Now, he said, these types of lawsuits are being filed that include the employer as a defendant — no matter what has been paid by the state.

Johnson also wondered whether the real answer might be in federal legislation, he said, adding "all of these products cross state lines."

But the OMA official said Cook's bill is "a first step."

House takes up tax cut plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House of Representatives will decide this week how to split up a $19.5 billion individual tax cut proposed by President Carter in an effort to prime the sluggish economy.

Carter wants to spend the money on a one-shot $50-per-person tax rebate and to permanently increase the standard deduction, which generally helps taxpayers on the lower end of the income scale.

Most Republicans and some Democrats prefer a permanent across-the-board tax cut for virtually all taxpayers.

Despite the political appeal of a universal tax cut, there is every indication the House will accept the Carter plan as the only sure way to pump more than $10 billion into the economy within a few weeks.

The two-year tax cut is scheduled for House debate on Thursday, one of the few pieces of legislation to be considered by Congress this week.

Another important bill, to be debated in the House on Tuesday, would extend for one year the government's authority to control interest rates on savings accounts. It also would broaden the powers of credit unions, giving them authority to lend money for home mortgages.

House action is expected Tuesday on a new code of ethics for representatives, which is considered virtually certain to pass because it was made a condition of allowing a 29 per cent pay hike for lawmakers to go into effect. The congressmen got their raises of nearly $13,000 a week ago.

The ethics code is likely to call for extensive financial disclosure, a limit on outside earnings and for other protections against conflict of interest.

The Senate is expected to consider on Thursday the nomination of Paul Warnke to be chairman of the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency and chief U.S. negotiator at the U.S.-Soviet arms-limitation talks. The nomination has been the most controversial made by Carter.

A compromise budget amendment to accommodate any emergency economic stimulus is slated for work today during the first major Senate-House conference of the new Congress. The House and Senate have passed slightly different amendments that assume — but do not ensure — acceptance of Carter's tax-cut and job-creation plans.

Carter's plan to mail a $50 check to virtually all Americans this spring has been under attack by many in Congress since he first spelled it out. Opponents contend the rebate is an expensive and uncertain way to create jobs counted on to help pull the economy out of recession.

Carter's economic stimulus proposal would cost about $32 billion between now and Sept. 30, 1978. In addition to the rebate and a bigger standard deduction for taxpayers who do not itemize, the measure calls for a business tax break and increased federal spending to create jobs.

COMMENDATION — Capt. Larry M. Hott, commander of the local Ohio Army National Guard unit, presents a meritorious service award to Sgt. William Robinson for cooperation with the National Guard during the severe winter weather conditions last month. Sgt. Robinson accepted the award on behalf of Washington C.H. Police Chief Rodman Scott and the police department staff.

For service during blizzard

Guardsmen salute 22 area residents

The local Ohio Army National Guard unit Sunday presented meritorious service commendation awards to 22 persons whose action "prevented much unnecessary suffering" during the Jan. 28 blizzard which paralyzed Fayette County.

"Certainly this community cannot praise or thank individually all those who deserve recognition for their activities during the blizzard of 1977," said Capt. Larry M. Hott, commander of the local Ohio Army National Guard unit. "But it was our desire in this unit to honor some of those with whom we worked, those whose untiring service and courage represent the highest efforts of all the citizens of the county."

"Thanks to the actions of these persons, and the many that they represent, much unnecessary suffering and sacrifice was prevented," Hott added.

The local National Guard unit presented "Guardsman Award" certificates to:

—Bertha McCullough, representing Washington C.H. City Council and the residents of Washington C.H.;

—Ray Warner, representing the Fayette County Board of Commissioners and the residents of Fayette County;

—Fayette County Sheriff Donald L. Thompson, representing the staff of the Fayette County Sheriff's Department;

—Washington C.H. Police Chief Rodman Scott, representing the staff of the Washington C.H. Police Department;

—William Duncan, superintendent, representing the staff of the city street department;

—Fayette County Engineer Donald Conley, representing the staff of the Fayette County Highway Department;

—John Woodmansee, manager,

representing the staff of the Fayette County Airport;

—Kerry Bell, owner and operator, representing Bell's Shell service station and its staff;

—Robert Munn and Larry Cruea, manager and assistant manager, representing McDonald's Restaurant and its staff;

—Michael Garner, owner and operator, representing Garner's Union 76 truck service and its staff;

—Carl and Jeanne Mason, owners, representing Frisch's Restaurant and its staff; and

—James Wackman Jr. and Gerald Wackman, owner and manager, representing the J&J Restaurant and its staff.

Special awards were also presented to Sheriff Thompson and Chief Deputy Robert W. McArthur of the Fayette County Sheriff's Department. Members of the local National Guard unit also presented a plaque to Sgt. Maj. Robert Goodson, of the Ohio National Guard headquarters in Columbus, for services rendered to the local unit.

The local Ohio Army National Guard, which was activated for emergency rescue operations during the severe winter weather conditions which isolated the county in late January, played a central, but certainly not exclusive, role in relief efforts, Hott said.

"Several city, county and state agencies were on continuous, 24-hour schedules until the end of the crisis.

Ohioans buy flood insurance

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ohioans are preparing for the possibility that this winter's severe weather will be followed by heavy flooding, according to the state's insurance industry.

The flood insurance business in the state is booming as homeowners — many of whom remember the devastating 1959 flood that caused $10 million damage and left thousands homeless — take advantage of policies issued through the National Flood Insurance Program.

"It has been a dramatic increase to say the least," said Charles Luker, an agent for Continental National American Insurance Co. in Cincinnati, fuel are required to remain at plant protection levels.

The definition of "Plant protection level" has been changed by PUCO. It is defined by the federal power commission as the gas necessary to prevent irreparable injury to life or property. Meters of these customers will continue to be read on a more frequent basis, the utility company said.

Also under the plan, customers with dual fuel and alternate fuel capabilities are still curtailed 100 per cent until further notice. Locally, the Washington Middle School falls in this category. The building has been heated by fuel oil since the first of the year.

Despite the lifting of many customer curtailments, the utility company is still concerned about the natural gas supply.

"We can't let up in our conservation measures, and the continued help in conserving on everyone's part is essential," a DP&L spokesman said.

Along with the successful conservation efforts by DP&L customers, the lifting of curtailments to certain natural gas users was prompted by the milder than normal weather of the past week and the increase in the utility company's gas supply from the Columbia Gas Transmission Co.

Emotions stirred by death of child

ATHENS, Tenn. (AP) — A special sound-equipped room was readied at McMinn County Courthouse today to hold the overflow crowd expected at the trial of Ronald and Wanda Gibson Maddux, charged with the beating death of Mrs. Maddux's 4-year-old daughter, Melisha.

The child's nude body was found on a bare mattress in the unheated living room of the Maddux's home in Cleveland, Tenn., last Oct. 13 — just five months after the state returned Melisha to the couple.

The Madduxes had been convicted of abusing Melisha when she was 11 months old and were jailed for six months. The state Humane Services Department returned the child to them last May.

Mrs. Maddux was alleged to have said her husband resented Melisha because the child was fathered by another man. Maddux reportedly told deputies that he began disciplining Melisha after she wet her pants.

Maddux is alleged to have said he beat Melisha with a stick to keep her walking, and allegedly made the following statement: "I made her keep walking back and forth all day to try and tire her out so that she would sleep that night.

"I kept giving her the hot sauce a tablespoon at a time. She asked me for a drink of water. I got a glass of water and told her if she would take the tablespoon of hot sauce, I would give her a drink.

"She swallowed the hot sauce and I drank the glass of water."

Maddux told officers he gave Melisha a shower and sent her to bed alone, naked on the bare mattress in the cold living room. An autopsy concluded she died the following morning of shock and exposure.

If convicted, the Madduxes could be sentenced to 10 years to life in prison.

Guardsmen

The persons in these agencies deserve the praise of the community for their perseverance, mutual cooperation, and even courage," he stated.

The local unit commander, who also holds the rank of specialist with the Washington C.H. Police Department, said the news media organizations in the county "performed critical roles in warning and informing county residents and in helping to coordinate relief efforts."

He added that "members of several public service organizations mobilized to provide assistance, especially in regard to medical and housing needs. Businesses across the county adapted their activities to serve and assist the relief program."

"Above all, people — the citizens of the county — on a one-to-one basis, exerted themselves in countless deeds of generosity to help their neighbors," Hott said.

The unusual and extremely severe winter conditions that existed in Fayette County during and after the Jan. 28 blizzard created the potential for great suffering, and damages estimated at more than $5 million.

With temperatures plunging to as low as 20 degrees below zero and with snow drifting as high as 15 feet, persons faced a series of hazards.

Roads were blocked. Persons were stranded in vehicles along roads and highways. Rural residents were cut off from food and medical treatment. In some cases, fuel supplies in homes were low as the blocked roads prevented the delivery of fuel oil and the cold weather interfered with the flow of natural gas.

Additionally, many farm animals were freezing and starving in fields, blocked from food and shelter by the snow. Even the supply of fresh drinking water was critical as the subzero temperatures froze many service lines.

The response of Fayette County authorities and residents was swift, effective and coordinated. Every effort was made to clear snow-clogged roads, despite the gusting winds that continually created new drifts. Persons were evacuated from stranded autos and other vehicles. Emergency vehicles, including helicopters, delivered fuel, food and medical supplies to isolated homes and villages.

Stranded travelers and, in some cases, entire families were evacuated to temporary shelter established in National Guard armory. Persons were housed through disaster relief funds and fed through voluntary contributions.

"These activities were carried out by the citizens, public agencies and private organizations of Fayette County. Because of their efforts, suffering in the county was minimized and the life and health of its residents was protected," Hott said.

Stock list turns mixed

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was mixed today, continuing last week's sluggish trend.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks rose a fraction in the early going, but losers took a slight lead over gainers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Analysts said the market was still being held back by concern over rising interest rates and fears of a new upsurge in inflation.

Brokers were watching to see how the market would respond to today's scheduled report from the government on the index of leading economic indicators for January.

Today's early prices included Southern Co., down 1/8 at 16; Kroger, off 1/8 at 26 1/2; MGIC Investment, 1/4 lower at 16, and U.S. Steel, unchanged at 46.

On Friday the Dow Jones industrial average managed a .83 gain to 933.43, reducing its loss for the week to 6.81 points.

But losers outnumbered gainers by about an 8-5 margin on the NYSE.

Big Board volume hit an early-1977 low of 17.61 million shares, against 19.73 million on Thursday.

The NYSE's composite index lost .08 to 54.09.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was down .57 at 110.58.

Rudolf Hess tries suicide

BERLIN (AP) — Rudolf Hess, the imprisoned former deputy to Adolf Hitler, cut himself with a table knife on his left wrist, elbow and foot last Tuesday, an Allied spokesman said today in apparent confirmation of reports that Hess tried to kill himself.

Hess's son said last week that his 82-year-old father tried to commit suicide because of deep depression over his failing health and his solitary imprisonment.

The son, engineer Wolf Ruediger, 39, met with Hess Friday at Spandau prison in West Berlin, the allied jail for Nazi war criminals where Hess is now the only inmate.

Hess has been in the jail since 1946 and was a prisoner in Britain before that since 1941. He is serving a life sentence for plotting and carrying out war, but not for war crimes.

Dove season hassle continues

By MATT ALLEN
Associated Press Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — For the second time in two years a court has ruled that mourning doves can't be hunted in Ohio.

The first time it happened was in 1975, just one day before the state's first dove season in 60 years.

The injunction issued then was dissolved a couple of days later in another court order and dove hunters were given the go-ahead for what state wildlife officials termed a very successful season.

At that time there was a great hue and cry raised against the sport of dove hunting by preservationist groups, which included Friends of Animals, headed by author Cleveland Amory, and the Toledo-based International Fund for Animals.

Several legislators joined in the fray on the side of the preservationists and the House passed a bill outlawing dove hunting. When the measure got to the Senate it was defeated.

The brouhaha began when preservationists discovered that the wildlife division had set a two-segment season on the swift-flying gamebird. The division had acted under the legislature-passed 1973 Endangered Species Act. In passing the measure, the legislature relinquished control over the setting of hunting seasons to the Division of Wildlife.

Until the season was set, the mourning dove—a migratory bird, hunted in more than 30 states—had been classified as a songbird in Ohio. None had objected to the change during well publicized hearings held by the division's Wildlife Council before the move.

Wildlife biologists estimated the mourning dove population in Ohio at about 7.4 million in 1975 and again in 1976.

"The 1973 act gave us the regulatory authority," said wildlife division chief Dale Haney. "With that act they (the legislature) included language that said in essence that the Division of Wildlife, with approval of the Wildlife Council, had authority over wild animals."

Haney said two judges ruled in the matter back in 1975, both acting on the side of the season-setting.

No fuss was raised at all about the 1976 dove season and most sportsmen felt the problem was a thing of the past. The latest ruling, from the Lucas

County Court of Appeals, came out of the original suit filed by Lawrence Hyter of Toledo, as a representative of the Fund For Animals. His attorney in the case was Arthur Wilkowski, a Democratic member of the House from Toledo. Wilkowski was one of the proponents of the legislation to ban dove hunting.

The state has about one month in which to act and it's likely the ruling will be appealed to the Supreme Court, but no final decision has been made. Department attorneys are studying the ruling now and "serious consideration is being given to an appeal," Haney said.

Prof slates road study for durability

KENT, Ohio (AP) — A geology professor at Kent State University says he hopes to discover the key to designing more durable roads by studying what causes the small landslides that break up the nation's highways.

Dr. Murray McComas, director of geology at Kent State, has been awarded $24,000 from the state transportation department and federal highway administration to study the land movement that can cause highway landslides.

While most landslides aren't serious, the Ohio highway department reports spending $1 million annually to repair roads damaged by such slides.

"When the highways were built, the main idea was to build them as fast and straight as possible," McComas said. "When the hills and mountains are cut into just anywhere, the slopes can fall and flow out over the highway."

"Many areas are seriously deteriorating," McComas said. "If they simply remove the dirt that is threatening a road it just starts more land sliding."

"My job has been to also evaluate the techniques the state has used to correct these problems," McComas said. "In some cases you may have seen these...blankets of rocks on the side of a hill. In some cases these work beautifully and in other cases it causes it."

'Think Week' slated at KSU

KENT, Ohio (AP) — "Think Week," sponsored by the Black United Students group on the Kent State University campus, will feature political activist Angela Davis and Georgia state Sen. Julian Bond.

Miss Davis will speak Tuesday in the Memorial Gym. Bond will speak March 6 in the student center ballroom.

Opinion And Comment

Zeroing in on cholesterol

In recent years, a major element in heart attack warnings has been the danger of high cholesterol levels in the blood. Widespread publicity has been given to means of reducing the cholesterol through diet and exercise.

Now authorities are narrowing the focus. Recent studies, we are told, show that high blood cholesterol does not always indicate increased risk of heart attack. It seems that the more important consideration is the nature of what one expert recently described as "fat packets" in the blood.

Dr. William P. Castelli, director of laboratories for the long-term Heart Disease Epidemiology Study at Framingham, Mass., said that cholesterol in low-density fat packets is the villain; this is associated with heart attacks. But cholesterol occurring in high-density fat packets, he said, not only does not heighten the risk of heart attack but appears to help guard against blockage of arteries.

The key appears to lie in the chemicals, known as lipoproteins, which play a role in the transfer of cholesterol. Low-density lipoproteins (LDLs) move cholesterol from the liver to the body cells; high-density lipoproteins (HDLs) carry it back to the liver for excretion.

Studies, though as yet inconclusive, indicate that it is the LDLs which bring on clogged arteries and heart disease. High cholesterol levels attributed to the other lipoproteins, the HDLs, do not seem to have this effect and may in fact be protective.

It is good to learn that steps can be taken - literally - to convert the low-density fat packets to high-density packets. Long distance running is the ticket, according to Castelli. This was demonstrated in practice when a group of 100 people in Phoenix took part in a 12-week program of running combined with dietary control; participants' average low-density cholesterol count went down substantially, and all lost weight - an average of 25 pounds each.

Individuals can do something else, according to Dr. Donald S. Frederickson of the National Heart, Lung and Blood Institute. In view of the studies cited above, he suggests that someone found to have high cholesterol levels should ask for further tests to show whether LDLs or HDLs are responsible. If the former, a program of weight loss through diet and running or some other comparable exercise seems to be next on the agenda for those who want to reduce their heart attack risk.

WASHINGTON CALLING....By Marquis Childs

George Meany vs. U.S.S.R.

WASHINGTON — One of the stoutest, staunchest opponents of any dickering with the Soviet Union for any agreement of any kind is that old curmudgeon George Meany. The 83-year-old boss of the AFL-CIO has just taken a new step to influence public opinion against the Soviets.

He has brought one of the most courageous and articulate of the dissidents to this country to tell his story of persecution. Vladimir Bukovsky, who has spent 11 of his 35 years in Soviet prisons, went first to address the AFL-CIO council in their luxurious quarters at Bal Harbour outside Miami. Then he is to appear before congressional committees and perhaps tour the country to speak to union and other groups.

While Bukovsky does not rank with Alexander Solzhenitsyn, who was also sponsored by Meany, he will be a powerful propagandist. Interviewed on American television in London, he was asked how many political prisoners there are in the Soviet Union. He replied: 250,000,000. That is the population of the Russian empire.

Bukovsky is free as a result of one of the strangest deals in Communist history. He was serving a seven-year prison term when he was abruptly taken out to be exchanged for a Chilean Communist, Luis Corvalan. Simultaneously Bukovsky arrived in Zurich in a Russian transport plane as Corvalan landed in a commercial aircraft to take Bukovsky's place for the return flight to Moscow.

Moscow has never made any public acknowledgement of the exchange. One very good reason is that it would be an admission that Moscow has political prisoners who can be treated as pawns in the Communist game.

Corvalan, a leading Communist in Chile, was imprisoned when the Allende government was brought down in a military coup. Widespread reports have implicated the CIA in that plot. The belief is that Moscow wanted Corvalan to lend his support for the case against the United States.

Now long after his arrival in Moscow Corvalan was received by Chairman Leonid Brezhnev. Since then he has made appearances in several Soviet satellite states to tell his story of the American-backed coup in Santiago. The Soviet overlords are bent on getting all that they can out of the exchange.

They may not, however, have bargained for the zeal and the courage of Bukovsky. He has repeatedly expressed his dissent with Soviet oppression, knowing full well that the police or the KGB were ready and waiting to pick him up.

Bukovsky's last imprisonment became known when his mother wrote to Mrs. Clive Barnes, wife of the New York Times drama critic, to inform her of her son's plight. Mrs. Barnes forwarded the letter to then Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and President Ford. The president ignored it, while Mrs. Barnes, according to Meany, received a polite response from a State Dept. underling.

A biologist, Bukovsky has received an offer to study and teach at a university in Amsterdam. It is believed that after three weeks he will return to Holland to continue his work in biology.

It was Meany who gave an impressive dinner for Solzhenitsyn in Washington when he arrived here from Switzerland. President Ford's refusal to receive the Russian novelist, who had spent many years in Arctic prison camps for his dissidence, drew Meany's denunciation.

Recently in one of his Yale lectures Ford said the refusal was a matter of logistics rather than ideology and he acknowledged that it had been a mistake. A White House spokesman has said that Carter would see Bukovsky if the request was made.

Meany is a force to be reckoned with with the new administration. He is not only an unrelenting foe of dealing with the Soviet Union but he is also a protectionist lobbying for tariff barriers to protect American manufacturers. At a small dinner recently he said:

"I may have to remind Carter who it was who elected him." Despite his advanced age, Meany shows no signs of relaxing his grip on the big labor organization. Through most of his tenure as president he has had at his side Jay Lovestone as an adviser on foreign policy. Lovestone was himself once a Communist who became disillusioned and turned to the extreme right.

Meany's influence in Congress is considerable. He is close to Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., who is also a foe of Soviet agreements.

"WHEN THE PRESIDENT TOLD US TO GO HOME NIGHTS AND BE WITH THE FAMILY, HE DIDN'T MEAN THIS!"

Songwriter goes looms to lyrics

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Geof Morgan is probably Nashville's only singer-songwriter who went from looms to lyrics.

He gave up the tranquil task of designing and building looms in a quiet Connecticut setting for a frenzied country music career that challenges one's patience with cascades of disappointment.

The loom business has survived without him. The music industry has not made him a superstar. But he is perhaps Nashville's most artistic picker.

He sings, writes music, paints, sculpts, shoes horses and has a degree in architecture. Indeed, he's one of the few northeasterners making music in the heart of hillbilly heaven. He's a genuine Connecticut Yankee in Nashville's court of music.

Morgan, 27, has written three moderate hits, "Love Is Thin Ice," recorded by Barbara Mandrell, "The Busiest Memory in Town," recorded by Dickie Lee, and "I'd Rather Be Picked Up Here (Than Put Down at Home)," recorded by Jeris Ross. He recently signed a recording contract.

Since leaving his family's loom business in Guilford, Conn., he's weaved a panoramic path, hitchhiking across the country three times.

"I stayed in the loom business a year or so," said the soft-spoken, red-haired Morgan. "Our business was making them and selling them. We did a lot of mail order business. I gave it up for thousands of reasons."

Ironically, he saw some of the company's looms at Vanderbilt University in Nashville after moving here.

"It was like seeing your record on the jukebox," he said.

He estimates he's hitchhiked 20,000 miles — searching.

"I was young and restless," he said. "It was a good experience — helping me to write and understand distressed people. I learned by hitchhiking what it's like to be at the bottom in this country. I got a lot of police harassment and heard a lot of insults. I remember someone throwing water at me. That would never happen to a guy in a suit on a street corner."

On the site of Fort Stephenson in Fremont is the Birchard Public Library, founded in 1870 when public libraries were rare in Ohio, by Sardis Birchard who settled in the city in 1827. Then the area was called Lower Sandusky. He was an uncle of Rutherford B. Hayes who became President of the United States. —AP

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Miffled at dad's abridged funeral

DEAR ABBY: My Irish wife isn't speaking to me. Here's what happened: Her father, who lived to a ripe old age, was buried last week. I was a pallbearer. It was pouring down rain when we got to the cemetery, and we were all ankle-deep in mud.

There was some kind of mixup on the hole they had dug, so after half the services were said at the wrong hole, we were advised of the mistake, and the funeral party had to walk a very long way to the right hole. What a mess! All the pallbearers took turns slipping and falling in the mud as we carried the casket, and the priest fell twice.

I held an umbrella over the priest's head as he started the prayers again, and I leaned over and whispered, "Father, let's have the short version." My wife heard me and claims I was very disrespectful to her father. Also she thinks that because of me the priest left out alot, and her father didn't have a proper funeral. How can I get my wife to start talking to me?

SORRY IN BOSTON

DEAR SORRY: Send her some flowers. They're the best bloomin' silence-breaker known to man.

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I have a bet on, and we need you to settle it. Are you divorced, or aren't you? I say you are, and my wife says you aren't.

The loser has agreed to send $25 to a charity of your choice. Thank you. MAC

DEAR MAC: You lose. I am NOT divorced, and God willing, come July I'll be married to the same wonderful man for 39 years. (P.S. Send your contribution to your local animal shelter.)

DEAR ABBY: CAROLINA CONTROVERSY says she is constantly being complimented on her clothes, which she makes herself, but her husband tells her she's foolish for telling people her clothes are "homemade."

How ridiculous! The well dressed man of today who can afford to have his clothes custom-tailored isn't ashamed to tell people that HIS suits are handmade. In fact he's proud of it. So why shouldn't a woman be proud to say that HER clothes are "homemade"?

MY TWO CENTS

DEAR MY: She SHOULD be. But "homemade" and "handmade" have an entirely different ring on the cash register, that is. It's funny how most people want their clothes to look expensive, but don't like to spend a lot for them.

Budget cutback brings thoughts

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — A cutback in the budget for free summer school may lead to a pilot program for an extended school year here.

The summer school budget was trimmed from $225,000 to $150,000.

Supt. Conrad C. Ott outlined the extended school year program, explaining to the Board of Education that all elementary and junior high school programs will be designated "PreFall School," which will be conducted from Aug. 15 through Aug. 26.

At the junior high level the program will emphasize orientation of new junior high students and remedial classes in math and language arts.

Cincy residents buy bottled water

CINCINNATI (AP) — Fearful that their drinking water is polluted with a cancer-causing chemical, residents are drying up the supply of bottled water in the Cincinnati area.

The run on bottled water, triggered by a second carbon tetrachloride spill into the Ohio River system in a week, has turned people off on drinking tap water.

Supermarkets report they can't keep bottled water in stock due to the demand.

"I've never seen anything like it," said Dave Wenger, an IGA store manager in Ft. Thomas, Ky. "One man ordered enough water to fill a bathtub. He said he refuses to take a bath in tap water."

Restaurants claim diners are substituting coffee and tea for water with their meals, while grocery stores report an increase of sales in soft drinks.

The bottled water sales peaked over the weekend as Cincinnati, Ohio's third largest city with 450,000 residents, closed the intake valves to its drinking water supply for 31 hours.

The rarely-ordered move came after 6,000 pounds of carbon tetrachloride was accidentally spilled into the Kanawha River Friday at the FMC Corporation near Charleston, W.Va. Last week a 70-ton slug passed Cincinnati undetected, polluting the river where the city draws its water supply and set off a public outcry. The chemical is believed to be a cancer causing agent and can cause liver damage.

Uneasy residents began looking for supplies of pure water.

"We've had a tremendous volume of new customers, maybe over 50 per cent," said Charles Braun, a distributor for Mountain Springs bottled water. "My wife just received 87 calls at home in a 24-hour period. "There are a lot of little old ladies frightened out of their wits," Braun said.

Rhodes sets water aid

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James Rhodes pledged his help Saturday to speed up the flow of federal funds to rural communities where water supplies were damaged by severe winter weather.

The governor met in his office with dozens of governmental officials from Ohio villages, cities and counties.

The officials identified such problems as broken water mains, frozen pipes, wells pumped dry because of low water tables, reservoirs at low levels because of drought and lack of water for firefighting because of depleted supplies and low pressure in systems.

Representatives of two federal agencies also met with the group.

Paul Lydens, Columbus director of the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, explained how to apply for community development grants to correct water system problems that pose serious threats to residents.

Ralph B. Voorhis, representative of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Farmers Home Administration, said the FHA can supply loans and grants for water and sewer improvements to rural communities under 10,000 population.

Landmark buys Ohio River tract for future facility

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Landmark, Inc., has purchased a 44-acre tract of land on the Ohio River for the construction of a grain handling facility.

Fred McLaughlin, executive vice president of Landmark, Inc., said the property, located on Ohio 8, two miles north of the I-275 outerbelt bridge, will be the future site of a grain handling and loading facility. Engineering studies are presently under way.

The announcement of the land purchase was announced at the cooperative's annual meeting held in Columbus.

McLaughlin stressed that the water has historically been the most economical method of transporting grain because it requires less labor and fuel. Noting these advantages, he underlined the importance of Landmark, Inc., operating a grain facility on the Ohio River to provide access to export facilities for Ohio farmers.

According to Kenneth Peterson, vice president of the Landmark, Inc., grain division, the purchase culminates several years of searching for a suitable grain handling and loading site in the Cincinnati area.

Peterson said the site was selected because it will accommodate the transportation of inbound grain by both truck and railroad and outbound grain by water and rail.

DESSERTS IN MINUTES

Many families feel that a meal is not complete without dessert. Desserts, however should not be an afterthought, but planned with nutrition in mind. Each day we need four servings of fruits and vegetables, four servings of bread and cereals, three cups of milk and two servings of meat. Fruit and milk based desserts can be planned to fit within this daily guide and also influence children's future dessert choices.

Since the busy homemaker cannot always find time to prepare time-consuming desserts she needs to keep recipes for quick desserts on file. The following three milk and fruit based desserts require less than 15 minutes preparation time and are ready to serve at the end of the dinner hour.

QUICK PUMPKIN PUDDING

- 1 cup canned pumpkin or mashed squash or mashed sweet potatoes
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/4 teaspoon cloves
- 1/4 teaspoon molasses
- 1 1/2 cups milk
- 1 package instant vanilla pudding mix

Combine pumpkin, salt, spices and molasses. Stir in milk until smooth. Add pudding and beat slowly about one minute until thick. Chill and serve. Makes 6 servings.

Convenient food items helped make these desserts quick and easy but added slightly to the cost. However, when time is a precious element, sometimes it is more economical to buy prepared products rather than have to do the work at home.

A well stocked cupboard, refrigerator and freezer of convenience items can help you turn out last minute desserts. Canned pie filling can serve as a topping for frozen pound cake, ice cream, or frozen waffles. Canned pudding can be served "as is" or dressed up with marshmallows.

nuts, fruit, sour cream, or whipped topping. Frosting mixes can top more than a cake from a mix. How about icing cookies or filling graham crackers? Fresh, canned or frozen fruit can be a dessert by itself (especially for low calorie diets) or accompanied by cheese or yogurt. Yogurt also makes a great topping for gelatin quick set using frozen fruit instead of ice. Hot spiced tea, hot chocolate or a sweet fruit juice can also be a pleasing climax to a meal.

To help you round out your meal planning with nutritious desserts we have prepared a recipe sheet with directions for Cherry Pudding Cake, Golden Toppers, Fruit Meringue, Baked Custard, Fruit Crisp, Applesauce Dessert, 5 Cup Fruit Cream, and Pineapple Upside-Down Cake. If you would like a copy call or write the County Extension Service 319 South Fayette Street, Phone 335-1150. It will be sent to you in a free packet of recipe sheets offered in this "Meal Appeal" column.

Candy molding, cake decorating workshop held

A workshop on candy molding and cake decorating taught by Miss Joyce Bull highlighted the meeting of the Fayette County Professional Home Economics Club at the February meeting, when members practiced their newly-found skills in the Home Economics Dept. rooms at Miami Trace High School.

A short business meeting conducted by Mrs. Nancy Davis followed, and plans were made for the annual tour to Kingwood Center and Gardens on June 8.

Those attending were Mrs. Mary Myers, Mrs. Connie Mathews, Mrs. Davis, Miss Bull, Mrs. Miriam Engle, Emily Engle, Mrs. June Pero, Susie, Dedee and Kitty Pero, Mrs. Beth DelTedesco, Mrs. Lila Engle, Mrs. Gladys Kirk, Mrs. Karen Bernard, Mrs. Carolyn Fryer and Mrs. Mary Belle Biddle.

Correction

In the Saturday's article concerning a bridal shower given by Mrs. Jack Thompson and her daughters, Jill, Jan and Joan, honoring Miss Joy Wynne, bride-elect of K.C. Taylor, the prospective groom's mother was listed as Mrs. Kenneth Taylor. It should have read Mrs. Charles Taylor.

Mrs. Browning club hostess

The Town and Country Garden Club met in the home of Mrs. Robert Browning when Mrs. Eli Craig, president, opened with "A Good Deed." Assisting hostess was Mrs. John Frost.

Mrs. Craig reported the Presidents Council meeting for 10 a.m. May 12 at the Fish and Game Lodge. This will be an all-day meeting, and Mrs. Vell Hughes of Clarksburg, will demonstrate basic flower arranging using the Ohio Garden Manual (Chapter 5) as her guide. Arrangements will be made in the afternoon. Flowers will also be planted in the new courtyard at Fayette Memorial Hospital, also.

The Fayette County Fair Flower Show was also discussed. The theme of the show will be book titles.

A possible tour later in the spring was discussed. The former home of Oscar Zimmerman, the Decorative Show House, built in 1929, located at Henderson and Olentangy River Rd. was suggested for a tour. This is open to the public April 24 - May 15, and tickets are $3. in advance or $3.50 at the door.

Members decided to consider participation in the Farmers Market during Old Fashion Bargain Days later this summer.

Mrs. Lewis Thomson sent a clipping from the Los Angeles Times about the snowstorm in Fayette County. She was vacationing in California and the article was read to club members by Mrs. Richard Rankin.

Mrs. David Krupla presented the program topic, "Seeds and New Plants." She told how to plant seeds and germination. She also told of the winners for 1977 in vegetables and flowers and the all-American Roses for 1977.

Hints for the months of January and February were read by Mrs. Craig: feed the birds, use a pipe cleaner to tie up the house plants for they are easier on the plants than string.

Refreshments were served.

Alpha Theta plans for future

New goals for Alpha Theta, No. 538, were discussed when members met recently in the home of Mrs. Bill Marting. Karen Hoppes, president, announced that Mrs. Fred Zechman had volunteered to be chairman of the annual Bike Ride for St. Jude's Children's Hospital. A personal letter from Danny Thomas was read, thanking the chapter for its contributions to St. Jude's over the past three years.

Vice president Karen Bernard led a discussion concerning the future "rush" program and philanthropic goals for the chapter.

Plans for the spring charity dance on April 16, co-sponsored with the Beta Omega Chapter, were discussed. The music for the dance will be furnished by the Bandians. Tickets will be available at a later date from members of both chapters. Alpha Theta and Beta Omega will meet on March 21 to complete plans for the dance.

Mrs. Marting, assisted by Mrs. Fred Hoppes, served a dessert course to Mrs. Jerry Hoppes, Mrs. John Bernard, Mrs. Richard Wood, Mrs. Ron Warner, Mrs. John Morris, Mrs. Fred Zechman, Mrs. Ron Ratliff, Mrs. Charles McIlvaine, Mrs. Don Gibbs, Mrs. John Gruber, Mrs. Richard Hill, Mrs. Jack Moats, Mrs. Chuck Wisler, Mrs. Jim Oughterson and Mrs. Jack Merriman.

HAMANTASCHEN — A prune or poppyseed-filled "cake," traditionally served at the Jewish festival of Purim.

Taste a little Hamantaschen

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

Associated Press Food Editor
DEAR CECILY: Do you have a recipe for Hamantaschen, the filled tricorner "cakes" served at the Jewish holiday of Purim? I tasted them at a neighbor's house and would like to make them. My neighbor doesn't use exact measurements, which I feel I need. — NEW COOK.

DEAR NEW COOK: Jack Lichtner of Far Rockaway, N.Y., who is proud of his wife's cooking, got her recipe for Hamantaschen for me. Mrs. Lichtner says the dough is a basic one that she also used for cookies and apple cake. Although Hamantaschen are baked especially for the joyous festival of Purim (this year on March 4), some cooks make them at other times of the year. Besides the prune filling, poppyseed filling is also used. — C.B.

MRS. LICHTNER'S
HAMANTASCHEN

- 4 1/2 cups flour
- 1 tablespoon baking powder
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup corn oil
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 tablespoon grated orange rind
- 1-3rd cup orange juice
- 4 large eggs

Prune filling, see note below
Stir together the flour, baking powder and salt. In the large bowl of an electric mixer, at medium speed, beat together the corn oil, sugar, orange rind and juice until well-mixed. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Gradually stir in the flour mixture until blended. Cover and refrigerate several hours or overnight. On a prepared pastry cloth with a prepared stockinet-covered rolling pin, roll out dough to 1/4-inch thickness. Cut into 3 1/4-inch rounds. Spoon 1/2 tablespoon of filling into the center of each round. Form tricorners by bringing up edges of dough almost to center and making 3 seams — some filling should show in center. Press seams together. Place on ungreased cookie sheet. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven until lightly browned — 12 to 15 minutes. Makes about 4 1/2 dozen.

Note: Mrs. Lichtner uses canned prune filling. To make your own: In a medium saucepan simmer 1 pound pitted prunes until very soft — 15 to 20 minutes; drain. In an electric blender, at high speed, puree for 3 minutes. Return to saucepan; stir in 1/2 cup sugar and 1/4 cup orange juice; cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until mixture boils. Cool before using. Makes about 2 and 1-3rd cups.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Last Monday, public TV began an ambitious six-part series, "Microbes and Men," which dramatizes the lives and work of a handful of 19th century pioneers who made modern medicine possible. It chronicles the part they played in proving microscopic organism cause disease, and their struggles to convince their peers that tiny, living bugs, not bad vapors or poor Ying and Yang, cause illness.

The first show concerned the discovery of Ignaz Semmelweis, an obstetrician in Vienna, of the principle of contagious disease.

Tonight's hour concerns French chemist Louis Pasteur's discovery that microbes exist, his theory they can cause illness, and German physician Robert Koch's proof a specific type can cause a specific disease.

Viewers conversant with bacteriology no doubt will find the show and the entire series fascinating. For others, it'll prove a mighty challenge, maybe a feeling the new tax forms are much easier to follow.

I fall in the latter category. To me, a Petri dish is what you serve Petri in. What I know about bacilli wouldn't fill a titration tube. Heck, I still believe in the phlogiston theory.

But have a go at tonight's episode, "A Germ Is Life," starring Arthur Lowe as Pasteur and James Grout as Koch. Be warned, though, it isn't your usual science drama, full of flashes of inspiration.

There are no sudden cries from the lab, of "Zut alors, Pierre, the culture turned green!"

Nay, it's a very low-key study, in separate chapters, of the two pioneers. It details their work so painstakingly nonscientists may grouse they can't tell the microbes without a playbill.

Those seeking high drama will have to make do with, say, Pasteur's declaration to his peers that "the correlation between disease and the presence of organisms is certain and indisputable."

If that won't suffice, try Koch's announcement, after his proof of the one-organism, onedisease theory, that "this leads us naturally to the next step — which is the conquering of all disease in man."

Later episodes go from immunization to the discovery of the drug that kills syphilis, each show also depicting the heartbreak that often comes with being first in one's field.

Jonas Salk of the Salk Institute for Biological Studies appears in each show to tell the significance of each subject's work.

"Microbes and Men" was coproduced by the British Broadcasting Corp. and TimeLife Films, and bought by station KCET here with grants from the Arthur Vining Davis Foundation and Hoffman-LaRoche, Inc.

As a child were you given some adult assurance of curly hair and strong eyes for life if you ate carrots? You probably forgot those promised miracles with your first munch. Beauty and vision are precious, but carrots are good just for being carrots.

Average OSU pay highest in Big Ten

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) —Average pay for OSU faculty members this school year is $21,990, which is slightly higher than the average at other Big Ten institutions.

The OSU Senate was told Saturday that the pay represents a 2.9 per cent increase in real purchasing power between July 1967 and July 1976.

But, said David H. Boyne, chairman of the agricultural economics and rural sociology department, a "minimum average salary increase" of "at least six per cent" is necessary as of July to keep the faculty average real purchasing power constant.

also investigated by police officers over the weekend.

Virgil Wilson, 326 Cherry St., told police officers that someone threw a rock through a basement window at his residence at 11:57 a.m. Sunday.

Harold A. Daly, 919 Briar Ave., told police that a bedroom window at his home was broken by a rock early Sunday morning. The window was valued at $50.

Another vandalism report was turned in by Karen Helmick, 237 Green St. She told police officers that someone slit two tires on her auto between 4 p.m. and 9 p.m. Saturday. The tires were valued at $75.

Police officers also reported that a 13-year-old Washington C.H. girl was arrested for shoplifting at the Convenient Food Mart, W. Court Street, Sunday evening. Pat Ann Smith, an employee at the store, told police that the girl failed to pay for a 91-cent TV dinner.

The Fayette County Sheriff's Department is investigating a tire theft report. Mike Little of Jeffersonville told sheriff's deputies that two trailer tires were taken from a vehicle parked at the Sohio Stop 35 service station over the weekend.

Little said he parked the trailer owned by Transport Pull Inc. of Cleveland, at the site Saturday afternoon and when he returned Sunday morning the tires were missing.

Locate tet leak source

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP)—Officials of the Environmental Protection Agency indicated they located the site of a possible leak during inspection of FMC's South Charleston plant Sunday.

But according to state water resources inspector Lacy Zimmerman, the EPA officials made no specific recommendation on improving the tanks. The officials reported their findings to the company in a two-hour debriefing session following the inspection.

Zimmerman said the EPA reported that its readings on the thickness of the carbon tet tank walls were "very close" to data collected by FMC.

"The accuracy of FMC's testing equipment is sound," Zimmerman said. FMC has disavowed complete responsibility for a 70-ton spill of carbon tet which was found in the Kanawha River recently, arguing that its tanks are adequately constructed and maintained to prevent such a spill.

Zimmerman said a written report, including findings and suggestions for upgrading the facility, will probably be submitted to FMC by Friday.

Dancer held; bit woman

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP) — A male go-go dancer is scheduled to appear in Delaware Municipal Court March 16, charged with biting a woman in the derriere during a performance.

Jeremiah Shastid, 25, Dayton, was arrested Saturday in connection with the Wednesday night incident at the Riverview Country Club. He was charged with assault and released on $100 bond.

Sheriff's deputies said Marjorie White of Columbus told authorities she was dancing with Shastid as part of his routine and he bit her on the buttocks when she turned her back to him.

The 25-year-old woman said her skin was broken and she bled. She received a tetanus shot and two stitches at a Columbus hospital.

Shastid and his all male disco revue choose women from their mostly female audiences to dance with and help them strip their clothing during the act.

Merrill's bomb big factor

Tigers outlast Trace in double overtime

By SCOTT SEFTON
Record-Herald Sports Writer
CIRCLEVILLE, Ohio — With both Miami Trace and Circleville out of contention for the SCOL title, the two teams displayed the kind of enthusiasm you might expect in a league championship encounter.

The Tigers finally outlasted the Panthers in double overtime to take a 71-69 win Saturday night.

Circleville was leading 62-60 near the end of the game when the Tigers went into a four corner stall. The offense melted away 1:30 from the clock until they turned the ball over to Trace with 22 seconds left in the first overtime.

Circleville's Frank Merrill fouled Panther guard Art Schlichter with nine seconds remaining and Schlichter calmly deposited both free throws to tie the game. The Tigers turned the ball over on the inbound pass and Schlichter bombed a 20-footer with :04 showing to put the Panthers up, 64-62.

The Tigers found Merrill somewhere near mid-court and he launched a 35-foot miracle that found the hoop to put the game into the second overtime period.

"It was a play we have set up," said an emotionally drained Tigers coach Jim Bailey about Merrill's final shot. "I thought we had them beat twice earlier but they wouldn't choke on the foul shots."

The first quarter scoring began of a 15-footer by Schlichter and Trace's scoring ended with two jumpers by Schlichter to give them a 10-8 lead.

Circleville got hot early in the second quarter and built up a 20-14 margin on baskets by Tom Taylor, Roy Huffer, Toren Bensonshaver, and Brent Wright.

The Panthers roared back as Dan Gifford and Schlichter combined four seven points. Bill Hanners and Tom Richardson each scored two points at the end of the half to give Miami Trace a 25-22 lead at intermission.

The Tigers jumped out to a 26-25 lead in the third quarter to gain their last lead until late in the fourth quarter.

Hanners led the Panthers in the third period with six points while Gifford and Schlichter combined for eight more as Trace took a 44-38 third quarter lead.

Schlichter started the Panthers off with a bucket in the fourth quarter, increasing the Panther lead to a substantial eight points. But, Circleville was not ready to give up as they reeled off eight unanswered points to tie the score.

Eric Pontious drove the lane and forced a shot that found the nets to put the Tigers up by two with 10 seconds left in regulation time.

After calling time out, Trace gave the Ball to Schlichter who drove in for a shot that missed while Hanners was being fouled. The 6-3 junior dropped both free throws to send the game into overtime.

The Panthers were leading with four seconds left in the first overtime when Merrill got off his cannon shot. And, in the second extra session, Circleville got five points ahead to whip the Panthers, 71-69.

Schlichter led the way in the scoring department for Trace with 25 points. Hanners followed Schlichter with 20 points and the forward grabbed 13 rebounds. Gifford also hit double figures with 10 tallies.

Circleville placed four players in double figures led by Bensonshaver with 25 to tie Schlichter for the game lead. Taylor chalked up 12 points and Wright hit 11 points. Merrill added 10 onto the winning score.

Wright pulled down 16 rebounds to lead in that department.

The Panthers finished SCOL play this season with a 6-6 record while their overall record was also even at 9-9.

Miami Trace plays their next game Wednesday, Mar. 2 at Athens. It will be the second round of their sectional tournament against Logan. Game time at the Ohio University Convocation Center is 8:30 p.m.

Baseball suffers with Finley, Kuhn battle

The Circleville reserves clinched the SCOL reserve championship with a hard fought 51-49 win over the Miami Trace reserves Saturday night.

The win gave the Tigers a 10-1 record in league play.

Turnovers plagued the Panthers in their upset bid as they committed 25 miscues, several coming in the closing minutes of the game when Circleville held only a slim two point lead.

Panther John Persinger led all scorers with 23 points, nine of them in the last quarter Miami Trace surge.

Miami Trace outscored the Tigers from the field, hitting 21 goals to the Tigers 16 but the Panthers had only 10 chances from the foul line, making good on seven of them. Circleville had 27 free shots and made 19.

Wooster, Muskingum in OAC finals

Wooster's been there. For Muskingum, the Ohio Conference basketball tournament finals tonight are a new experience.

Wooster won the title in its only other experience in 1973. The two rivals did not meet during the regular season.

"We know they are an excellent team with good balance," Muskingum Coach Jim Burson said of Wooster, the Northern Division playoff winner over Heidelberg 74-61.

Meanwhile, the Muskies ended Ohio Wesleyan's Cinderella trail with a 90-61 rout for the Southern Division laurels. Muskingum will carry a 20-5 record against Wooster, 20-6, in the title game at Otterbein.

The winner automatically qualifies for the NCAA Division III Great Lakes Regional at Wittenberg Friday and Saturday. The Tigers, as host team, are also in the four-team field.

Pete Liptrap's 24 points led five double figure scorers for Muskingum, which led Ohio Wesleyan by 36 points at one point. Mike McCoy had 11 for the Bishops, 12-12.

George Zambie came off the bench to score 14 points and pace Wooster past Heidelberg, 13-14. Dave Frye and Sam Dixon led the Scots with 16 each. Chris Reichert had 15 for the Princes.

Elsewhere in Ohio college basketball Saturday, Miami kept its Mid-American Conference lead and Cincinnati, ranked 14th nationally, posted its 22nd victory this winter.

The Redskins thumped Ohio University 83-62 behind Chuck Goodyear's season-high 29 points. Cincinnati, 22-4, waxed Jacksonville 78-61 with Brian Williams sinking 19 points.

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent
NEW YORK (AP) — The tug o' war between baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn and the maverick owner of the Oakland A's, Charles O. Finley, is getting ludicrous.

To the average fan, not attuned to the inner ramifications, it smacks of a personal feud, vendettas, unnecessary needling and name-calling.

Baseball suffers.

The game can't absorb too much dissension of this sort. The two leagues are at odds over expansion. Players, for a century held in virtual servitude, are taking advantage of their newfound freedom by demanding outblown multi-million dollar contracts.

The old management-player relationship has virtually disappeared. An icy barrier has been raised between owner and player. There is a sharp division among owners — the big spenders drawing the ire of the hold-the-line conservatives, led by Calvin Griffith of Minnesota.

Fans are fed up with threatened strikes, lockouts and court suits. They are sick and tired of seeing the commissioner clamp down on Finley and the A's owner retaliating with taunts that Kuhn is the "national idiot."

Now Commissioner Kuhn has invited a second court action from Finley by delaying the sale of Oakland relief pitcher Paul Lindblad to the Texas Rangers for $400,000.

Kuhn is calling Finley on the carpet in Dallas Wednesday to ask the Oakland boss why the deal was made. The average American, without exploring the festering sore that has existed between the two men, might suggest that Finley reply: "Because I wanted to."

It all seems simple enough. Finley owns a piece of property. He wants to sell it. Baseball clubs have been carrying on such negotiations for more than 100 years without drawing any official intervention.

Birmingham Bulls trip Edmonton, 4-0

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Birmingham Bulls, weary from a long day of travel from Quebec City, did not figure to present much of a problem for the Edmonton Oilers. After all, the Oilers were completing a nine-game home stand and had spent the day waiting for the Bulls to arrive.

Things did not quite work out as expected. Birmingham, which lost 5-3 Saturday night at Quebec, recorded a 4-0 triumph over Edmonton Sunday night, as the Oilers ended their home stand with just three victories and a tie in the nine games.

In the other World Hockey Association games Sunday night, the Houston Aeros trimmed the Phoenix Roadrunners 5-4, the New England Whalers tripped the Winnipeg Jets 3-2.

Last summer Finley tried to sell three players—Joe Rudi, Rollie Fingers (to the Red Sox) and Vida Blue (to the Yankees) for $3.5 million. He said he wanted the money to start buying a fresh team.

The commissioner said "no." Finley retaliated with a $3.5 million suit. A Chicago federal judge has the case under advisement.

The commissioner insisted he voided the Fingers, Rudi and Blue deals last year and recently stayed the Lindblad sale to protect the game.

Why wasn't similar action taken in the 1930s when Connie Mack broke up his world championship lineup by peddling such stars as Al Simmons, Jimmy Foxx, Lefty Grove and Mickey Cochrane?

Why was no stir raised when the Red Sox sold Babe Ruth to the Yankees for $100,000 plus a mortgage on Fenway Park, or the Cardinals' Branch Rickey unloaded Dizzy Dean, Joe Medwick and Johnny Mize, among countless such club actions?

If the commissioner has the personal right to maintain the competitive balance of the game, what would prevent him from voiding the multi-million dollar deals that brought Reggie Jackson and Don Gullett to the already powerful Yankees and similar raids on the free agent market which made the rich richer and the poor poorer?

Hillsboro beats Wellston

Hillsboro advanced to the second round of the Paint Valley Sectional Tournament with a 68-46 win over Wellston Saturday night.

Wellston could manage only two points in the second quarter and just three in the fourth quarter as Hillsboro had little trouble with the Rockets.

Tim Fuller led Hillsboro with 24 points while Gary Coffman received 18 points and Randy Sanders contributed 10.

Bill Hudson and Jim Royster each collected 13 for Wellston.

Hillsboro will play Waverly next Thursday for a trip to the sectional finals to meet the winners of the Washington C.H.-Greenfield McClain game.

SCHLICHTER AND A HOST OF OTHERS — Miami Trace's Art Schlichter goes in for a lay up to add to his 25 points in Saturday's game versus Circleville. The Tigers outlasted the Panthers 71-69 in double overtime.

Martin, Stuckey top classes

Panthers take satisfying fourth at sectional tourney

By MARK REA
Record-Herald Sports Editor
ATHENS, Ohio — Miami Trace grabbed a fourth place in the sectional wrestling tournament Saturday and was only one and a half points out of third place.

"I'm very pleased with the performance Saturday," said Panthers head coach Glenn Jacobson. "There were some pleasant surprises."

Chillicothe won the sectional with 193½ points, but the Panthers walked off with two first places, one second, and two thirds.

Wearing sectional crowns are Scott Martin at 145 pounds and Jim Stuckey at 155 pounds. Both were top seeded in their weight classes.

Shawn Riley captured second place at 175 pounds while Bruce Fennig finished third at 126 pounds and Tim Gilispie took a third at 98 pounds.

Martin adds the sectional title to his SCOL crown won a week ago. He decided three straight opponents on his way to the crown. "Martin wrestled a technically smart match," said Jacobson, "against some very strong opposition."

Stuckey decided two of his opponents while pinning a third. Jacobson praised Stuckey by saying, "He wrestled a smart match and didn't rely only on his strength. He put on some good moves especially when he only took 34 seconds to pin one guy."

The Panther grappler coach also singled out Gilispie and J.R. Wilson for "good jobs for rookie wrestlers. They both wrestled well."

Fennig took a third despite a neck injury that hampered his movement Saturday. "I was pleased with Bruce but disappointed that he only got a third after winning three matches. But, he was in a tough class and wrestled well even with that bad neck," said Jacobson.

Mike Camstra and Riley were also singled out by the Panther coach. "Mike did a good job in his first starting role and he was wrestling up a weight class. Riley was one of the most pleasant surprises of the day."

Of John Burr at 185 pounds, Jacobson related, "He learned some valuable lessons today that will help him next year. He was in the toughest weight class but he wrestled well and will be back next year."

Heavyweight Chris Schlichter also turned in a good performance according to Jacobson and Schlichter has become "one of the most improved wrestlers this season," said the Trace coach.

Jacobson will get his three top wrestlers ready for district competition this week. Martin, Stuckey, and Riley will travel to Marietta on Saturday to compete in the district championships.

Nicklaus wins Gleason title

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — "I sort of steamrolled ahead," was the way Jack Nicklaus explained his 61st PGA tournament title, in the $250,000 Jackie Gleason-Inverrary Classic.

The game's 37-year-old master fell one shot behind playing partner Gary Player on the eighth hole Sunday, then outshot Player by seven shots on the next nine holes and finished five shots ahead of the South African to claim $50,000.

"I really don't think I'm a great frontrunner," said Nicklaus, who entered the day a shot ahead of Gil Morgan and two up on Player.

"Once I got one shot behind (with consecutive bogeys on Nos. 7 and 8), I just made up my mind and played more aggressive. I played better being behind at that point," said Nicklaus, who had a closing two-under '70.

Mikita marks 500th pro hockey goal

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The pressure had become just a little too much to bear, even though Stan Mikita started scoring National Hockey League goals more than 16 years ago. Black Hawks fans cheered him every time he touched the puck in Chicago Stadium, hoping the magic moment would come when the veteran would tally the 500th goal of his NHL career. They would have to wait; Mikita would have to wait... until Sunday night.

The joy of the goal was tempered by the fact that the Canucks held on for a 4-3 triumph over the Black Hawks. In the other NHL games, the Montreal Canadiens blasted the New York Rangers 8-1, the Philadelphia Flyers trimmed the Colorado Rockies 4-3, the Boston Bruins and Pittsburgh Penguins played a 2-2 tie, and the Los Angeles Kings downed the Buffalo Sabres 5-1.

North Carolina stops Louisville

Tar Heels take ACC title

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer
The North Carolina Tar Heels pulled off a great double play over the weekend.

They won the Atlantic Coast Conference regular-season title with a little help from North Carolina State, then beat Louisville with a lot of help from Phil Ford.

"It looked like we were worn out," said North Carolina Coach Dean Smith after Sunday's nationally televised 96-89 victory over Louisville.

The Tar Heels had every right to be tired. They had beaten Duke 84-71 Saturday, then sweated through an emotionally draining day before finding out how Wake Forest would do that night.

The Deacons were upset by North Carolina State 91-85, thus giving the ACC championship to North Carolina. Then, North Carolina defeated the nation's 10th-ranked club.

North Carolina led Louisville by as many as 22 points in the second half of the game at Charlotte, N.C., and, led by Ford, held off a late Cardinals rally.

The brilliant guard scored 26 points and orchestrated the sensitive "Four Corner" offense for the ninth-ranked Tar Heels.

"It's hard to be ahead by 20 against such a good team like Louisville," Smith said. "Louisville is not going to fall over and play dead when they're down by 20."

Elsewhere in the Top 10 Saturday, No. 1 San Francisco squeezed past Portland University 95-92; No. 2 Kentucky defeated Alabama 85-70; No. 3 Michigan edged Michigan State 69-65 in overtime; No. 5 UCLA hammered California 91-69 and Georgia shocked No. 7 Tennessee 83-76.

In other games, No. 12 Providence stopped St. John's 69-66; No. 13 Minnesota nipped Illinois 72-70; No. 14 Cincinnati outscored Jacksonville 78-61; No. 15 Syracuse turned back Rutgers 82-72; No. 16 Detroit walloped Cincinnati-Xavier 91-66; No. 17 Oregon edged Washington 61-60; No. 18 Marquette beat Virginia Tech 75-70; No. 19 Clemson embarrassed Roanoke 120-56, and New Mexico upset No. 20 Utah 81-77.

North Carolina held a 57-38 halftime lead and expanded that to 70-48 early in the second half before Louisville came back on the shooting of Wesley Cox and Rick Wilson, who led all scorers with 30 points.

But Ford scored crucial points, and freshman star Mike O'Koren, who also had 26, thwarted the Louisville comeback before a sellout crowd of 11,666 at the Charlotte Coliseum.

Saturday's victory and the first-place finish earned the Tar Heels a bye in the first round of the ACC playoffs, starting Thursday. North Carolina will play Friday night in the semifinals against the winner of the Maryland-North Carolina State game. Other first-round matchups include Wake Forest vs. Virginia and Clemson vs. Duke.

Bill Cartwright scored 33 points and led San Francisco on a 14-2 tear late in the game, helping the undefeated Dons beat Portland for their 29th straight victory this season. The big center had three baskets in the middle of the streak as the Dons rallied from an 11-point deficit against the underdog Pilots.

James Lee triggered a Kentucky rally late in the second half that sent the Wildcats past Alabama and into sole possession of first place in the Southeastern Conference. This was accomplished by Tennessee's loss to Georgia.

Rickey Green scored 20 points, including a crucial basket in overtime, helping Michigan beat Michigan State. Marques Johnson scored 37 points in his last home game in Pauley Pavilion, leading UCLA over California. UCLA's victory clinched a tie for the Pac-8 title.

Walter Daniels and Curtis Jackson combined on a 10-point rally in the final two minutes as Georgia, the last-place team in the SEC, upset Tennessee. Bruce Campbell scored 21 points, leading Providence over St. John's. Ray Williams sank two free throws with 30 seconds left, lifting Minnesota past Illinois. Brian Williams' 19 points led Cincinnati over Jacksonville. Syracuse defeated Rutgers as Jimmy Williams and Dale Shackleford teamed for 42 points.

John Long's 24 points paced Detroit over Cincinnati-Xavier. Ernie Kent scored the last four points for Oregon, helping the Ducks defeat Washington and remain mathematically alive in the Pac-8 race.

Butch Lee scored 22 points and Bo Ellis connected for 18, leading Marquette past VPI. Colin Abraham had 23 points in only 20 minutes, pacing

Clemson's rout of Roanoke. Michael Cooper's 24 points, including four free throws in the final 15 seconds, helped New Mexico defeat Utah.

Elsewhere, three major conferences started post-season tournaments — the Big Eight, Southwest and Southern.

In first-round games of the Big Eight, Kansas beat Nebraska 61-58, Oklahoma defeated Colorado 68-56, Missouri trimmed Oklahoma State 92-74, and Kansas State defeated Iowa State 97-62.

In the SWC, Baylor upset Texas 72-70, Texas Tech trounced Rice 93-74, Texas A&M whipped SMU 89-79.

Here's the Answer

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

Q. — In moving into our house recently, some furniture was dragged across the dining room floor and left scratches in the hardwood. They aren't very deep, but we would like to touch them up anyhow. How can this be done? There is no finish on the floor, except possibly a little wax.

A. — If there is wax on the floor where the scratches are, remove it. Using a tiny brush, like those sold to artists, dip the tips of the bristles in varnish. Run the bristles lightly over the scratches. Wipe off any excess, especially on the part of the floor which is not marred. Wait a couple of days. If the touched-up portions are too glossy, dull them with a fine grade of steel wool. If you are going to finish the entire floor, be sure all wax is removed first. When the new finish has hardened, re wax.

Q. — There is a tiny hole in the concrete wall in our basement. Water trickles from it every time there is a heavy rain. I intend to fix it shortly, but what I would like to know is whether such a hole can be filled while the water is coming out of it or must the area be entirely dry?

A. — It is better to make the repair when everything is dry, but if this is not practical, such a hole can be plugged with what is called hydraulic cement. It is a putty-like material that is used just as it comes out of the can. Follow the directions on the label. Usually, the instructions are to make a tiny ball of the material in your hands, then push it into the opening and hold it there for several minutes. The material has the capacity to set even when the leak is taking place. It is well to keep an eye on the wall the next time it rains, because sometimes when a hole of that sort is plugged, the water will seek out some other weak point in the concrete and force its way through. Not so incidentally, have you taken any steps to keep the water away from the house foundation, such as banking the soil away from the outside wall and seeing that water from the roof doesn't settle down next to the wall?

Q. — There is a banging noise every time the cold water faucet in our kitchen sink is turned off. I thought a washer might be loose, but I checked completely and found it to be in good shape. Is there anything I can do about this?

A. — Sounds as though an air chamber in the plumbing system may be filled with water instead of air, as it should be. Try shutting off the main water valve into the house and opening all faucets in all rooms. The idea is to replace the air in the air chambers. If, when everything is restored to normal, the banging still occurs, you will have to call a plumber.

Opening lead — seven of hearts.

A reader wants to know what went wrong with the bidding in this deal. She was South and opened one club, which everybody passed.

West led a heart and declarer took East's king with the ace. After drawing trumps, South cashed the ace of spades, felling East's king.

A spade lead to the nine permitted her to lead the ten of hearts and finesse when East followed low. Another heart lead trapped East's jack, and the lady later took a second spade finesse that succeeded.

School budget said insufficient

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — A proposed 1977 general fund budget of $65.3 million is insufficient for several areas of the Akron school system, says Supt. Conrad C. Ott.

Ott said Saturday that the proposal, although up $1.7 million from 1976, will be insufficient for continue class size reductions mandated by the state, salary increases and any educational improvements or extension of programs.

The proposed spending package was balanced by cuts in nonpersonnel items such as supplies and equipment.

In addition, Asst. Supt. Harry Sabgir said a 10 per cent increase provided for utilities probably would not cover rising utility bills, which were 59 per cent higher in January than those for January 1976.

The now extinct Bellaire, Zanesville and Western Railroad once was called, facetiously, the "Bent, Zigzag and Wobbly" railway because its roadbed followed so many turns and trestles. — AP

But, total fatalities increase

1976 state traffic death rate matches all-time record low

COLUMBUS, Ohio — State Highway Safety Director Robert M. Chiaramonte today said provisional year-end figures show Ohio's 1976 traffic death rate matched the all-time record low of 2.8 deaths per 100 million vehicle miles traveled established in 1975.

Chiaramonte said the figures indicate that Ohio tied with Pennsylvania for the lowest death rate among states with comparable vehicle populations. He compared the Ohio figure of 2.8 deaths per 100 million vehicle miles traveled with those of Pennsylvania (also 2.8), Illinois (3.0), Michigan (3.3) and Texas (3.7).

While Ohio motorists were able to duplicate the record-low 1975 death rate in 1976, Chiaramonte pointed out that total traffic fatalities in the state increased from 1,776 in 1975 to 1,870 in 1976 — a 5.3 per cent rise. He also noted that fatal accidents increased from 1,604 in 1975 to 1,648 in 1976 — a 2.7 per cent increase. He explained that the death rate remained at 2.8 per 100 million vehicle miles traveled despite these increases because the number of miles driven on Ohio roadways also increased significantly.

"We have to be pleased that Ohio's traffic safety record for 1976 continued to rank among the very best in the country's but there's no escaping the fact that more than 1,800 people still lost their lives on our streets and highways," Chiaramonte said.

"The only 'magic number' in traffic safety statistics is zero," he added, "but it is important to analyze where and how and why last year's fatal accidents happened so we can prevent similar tragedies in the future."

Of the 1,648 fatal accidents recorded during 1976, 1,489 were single-fatality crashes, 121 were double-fatality accidents, 24 involved three fatalities, 10 were four-death accidents, one accident killed five persons, one six-death accident, one accident killed five persons, one six-death crash was recorded and two separate accidents each killed eight persons. Prior to 1976 there had been only one eight-fatality accident recorded in Ohio over the past 10 years — that one occurring in 1973. Chiaramonte reported that 72 more persons were killed in multiple-death accidents last year than were killed in similar accidents in 1975 — accounting for most of the overall increase in fatalities. He said the higher number of multi-death crashes in 1976 explains why there was a 5.3 per cent rise in deaths but only 2.7 per cent increase in fatal accidents between 1975 and 1976.

Among other significant details included in the provisional 1976 report, Chiaramonte listed the following:

—Cuyahoga County recorded the greatest number of fatal accidents (168) and the most fatalities (190), followed by Montgomery County — 92 fatal accidents, 103 deaths; Hamilton County — 90 accidents, 99 deaths; and Franklin County — 83 fatal crashes, 90 deaths. At the other end of the scale, Morgan and Noble counties recorded zero traffic deaths during 1976; while Harrison and Highland counties each had two fatalities.

—Peak accident months were May, with 168 fatal crashes and 189 deaths, and August with 193 deaths arising from 163 accidents.

—Weekends remained the most dangerous time to drive. Saturday was high-death day with 358 recorded fatalities, followed by Friday with 313 deaths and Sunday with 294.

—The most dangerous time slot was between 2 and 3 a.m.; some 136 persons lost their lives during that hour. Next most dangerous hours were 11 to 12 p.m. (133 deaths); 9 to 10 p.m. (117) and 8 to 9 p.m. (110).

—The greatest number of traffic deaths occurred in the 15-19 age group (388). Next highest was the 20-24 age bracket (299), and third highest was the 25-29 group with 186 recorded fatalities.

—Of the 1,870 persons killed in traffic accidents, 1,349 were females and 521 were males. Of these 1,870 deaths, 1,152 occurred in a rural setting while 718 occurred within the corporation limits of a city or town.

—749 persons died in collisions with other motor vehicles, 595 died in fixed object accidents, and 282 were killed in pedestrian accidents.

—In fatal accidents where a probable cause could be determined, the leading probable cause was excessive speed (295 accidents), followed by driving under the influence of alcohol or drugs (222), failure to yield (218) and pedestrian actions (211).

Prostitutes target of Dayton police

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Prostitutes and their customers are the targets of a local cleanup campaign by police, but the tactic of arresting them for jaywalking, spitting on sidewalks and littering is raising the ire of the local chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union.

The police department has armed a 12-man task force with every law possible to chase streetwalkers and their customers from downtown. And officers say they believe the method is working.

Officers also will be taking pictures and conducting interviews on the streets to enforce the city's ordinance on congregating, according to Maj. Gilbert H. Thurman, superintendent of police operations.

"We're at the point where we can keep a constant presence and pressure on streetwalkers that will enable us to have some success" with the new method, he said.

However, Asher Bogin of the Dayton chapter of the ACLU, doesn't like it.

"It may well be unconstitutional to photograph somebody who is not committing a crime," he said. "It may violate a person's right to privacy. They (police) know it's not right. But they just want to see if they can get away with it."

"I think it's an abuse of police powers," Bogin added. "They don't have enough evidence to arrest them so they will try and bother them to death. These underhanded tactics indicate the police are powerless."

Thurman agreed that some tactics are in gray areas, but emphasized that police want to try everything possible to rid the city of prostitution. He said previous efforts to wipe out prostitution, such as undercover officers posing as prostitutes to arrest customers, were only temporarily successful.

Governor seeking disaster guidelines

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes and fellow governors discussed delays in receiving federal disaster relief Sunday as they prepared for a meeting today with President Carter and other administration officials.

Rhodes, in Washington for a meeting of the National Governors Conference, said property owners deserve to know disaster guidelines in the event of a calamity.

He asked the governor to support a study of new guidelines of what constitutes a federal disaster. State Development Director James Duerk, who accompanied Rhodes on the Washington trip, noted that the governor on three occasions had failed to convince President Carter to have the state or portions of the state declared a federal disaster area.

The development director said Ohio was declared an "emergency state" in early February, but said funds were limited to payments for snow removal. He reported Rhodes' consternation with the fact that most of the snow had melted or was cleared away before that aid came.

"People should be able to know ahead of time what they can anticipate in federal relief when trouble strikes," Rhodes said. "As it is now, there is no real definition (for what constitutes a disaster), and it all seems to be determined by the whims of the bureaucrats."

Duerk said a survey indicated Ohio suffered losses of more than $100 million because of damage related to the severe cold weather and the related energy crisis. Duerk cited losses in damage to roads and highways, losses sustained by farmers and municipal water shortages.

The damage survey has been completed and submitted to federal officials, Duerk said, with the state awaiting word on the possibility of some belated reimbursement aid.

The conference executive committee, of which Rhodes is a member, supported his call for new disaster criteria. The executive committee is composed of nine governors, chaired by Florida Gov. Reubin Askew. Of the nine, only Pennsylvania Gov. Milton Shapp was absent, Duerk said.

Lily Tomlin opens show

NEW YORK (AP) — Ten years ago, Lily Tomlin was wearily waiting tables at a Howard Johnson's restaurant in midtown Manhattan. Now she's back in the city for her Broadway debut in a one-woman show, "Appearing Niteley."

According to the zany lady of television's "Laugh-In" fame, there'll be very little glitter. She says it will feature just Lily and her "pieces" — those slice-of-life characterizations of Bobbi-Jeanine, the cocktail organist, 5-year-old Edith Ann in a rocking chair and Ernestine the telephone operator — whose troubles and dreams many Americans readily identify with.
